Impossible This Year: Kennedy

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., took himself out of any consideration for the Democratic vice presidential nomination today with a statement saying "for me, this year, it is impossible."

Kennedy, last survivor of four Kennedy sons, said in a statement that his decision "is final, firm and not subject to further consideration." Kennedy said he is removing himself from consideration because of family responsibilities resulting from the assassination of his brother, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., last month. (See also political roundup on page 5.)

WILL SPEAK OUT

The Massachusetts senator, in a four-paragraph statement, said he will speak out, however, on "foreign and domestic policies our party must pursue if it is to be successful in the coming election."

He said he appreciated the confidence of Democrats who have proposed him for the national ticket and "under normal circumstances such a possibility would be a high honor and a challenge to further public service."

'PURELY PERSONAL'

Kennedy added, "My reasons are purely personal. They arise from the change in my personal situation and responsibilities as a result of the events of last month. I know that the members of the Democratic Party will understand these reasons without further elaboration.

"I have informed the Democratic candidates for the presidency and the chairman of the convention that I will not be able to accept the vice presidential nomination if offered and that my decision is final, firm and not subject to further consideration."

IN HYANNIS PORT

As the sole surviving son of the Kennedy clan, Edward has responsibility for 15 children — three of his own, ten of Robert's and two of John's.

Citizens, Police Hit Pullout

COMBINED AP & UPI

CLEVELAND — A major segment of National Guard troops and police withdrew a second time today from an East Side section slowly returning to normal following three days of looting and racial violence that left 10 dead.

Mayor Carl B. Stokes—facing a minor police rebellion over his handling of the disorders—lifted a citywide liquor ban. Normal traffic, transit service and refuse collections resumed.

'EXTREMELY QUIET'

"Today we will be trying to get everything back to normal," Stokes said following a night which had no major incidents.

At midmorning, newsmen on the East Side described the battle-torn area—where damage was estimated at $1.5 million—as "extremely quiet." City officials said a dusk-to-dawn curfew imposed since Tuesday night proved effective.

With peace apparently restored, Stokes faced the task of restoring harmony among angry police and businessmen.

BITTER COMPLAINTS

His action in withdrawing all National Guardsmen and white police from the restricted area from Wednesday evening until yesterday afternoon, drew bitter complaints that it permitted Negro looters to operate with impunity.

Richard Galaska, 30, a policeman for three years, said in a letter to his superior that "under these conditions I am so angered and confused that I cannot see myself as a useful police officer."

Police also circulated petitions demanding they be paid at the time-and-a-half rate for working 12-hour shifts. The petitions called the violence "The Cleveland massacre."

Until dawn, a force of 1,200

Cong Bombs Newspaper In Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — Terrorists struck in Saigon today for the second time in a week and blew up the city's largest Chinese newspaper.

Police said four young Viet Cong, two of them girls, set off a 60-pound plastic bomb in the press room of A Chau Van Quoc, the Asian Daily News, an anti-Communist paper which supports the Saigon government. No casualties were reported.

The terrorists, all armed with pistols, walked into the newspaper office just after 1 p.m. and ordered everyone out.

Five minutes later an explosion rocked the three-story building, heavily damaging it.

Employees of the paper said the terrorists were Vietnamese of Chinese origin. The plant is located in Cholon, the Chinese section of Saigon where 300,000 Vietnamese Chinese live.

A few blocks away another Chinese paper, the Kien Quoc, was blown up June 6. Three persons were killed in that explosion, and 15 others injured. The Kien Quoc also supported the South Vietnamese government.

Last October, terrorists shot and killed the managing editor of A Chau after he had written several editorials criticizing Viet Cong assassinations.

Halt To Japan Buying Of Lumber Is Asked

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Congress has been asked to halt a high increase in the amount of lumber exported to Japan from national forests, particularly in California.

A bill introduced by Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, sets an annual export limit of 350 million board feet through 1972. The legislation is similar to that introduced Tuesday in the upper house by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Oregon.

In San Francisco, George Craig, manager of Western Lumber Manufacturing, Inc., said today the Japanese have been buying large amounts of timber from the northwest in recent years to meet a housing boom. Craig's firm is an association of timber buying companies.

He said the Japanese activities have inflated timber prices and harmed the economy of the lumber processing industry. The Japanese are willing to pay high prices for unprocessed lumber, he said.

Craig said Japanese exports of unprocessed redwoods and fir for the first quarter of this year from public and private lands had exceeded the export level for the same period in 1967 by 260 per cent.

Craig said the Japanese have contracted with numerous firms to buy timber for them, but also had recently purchased 3,400 acres of redwoods in Humboldt County for $4.7 million, Craig said.

Much of the public timber exported by the Japanese recently has been taken from the Eldorado National Forest, east of Sacramento, Craig said.

Clausen's bill would not affect timber under private ownership.

"We are not attempting to restrict commerce and trade of forestry resources that are surplus with our Japanese friends," Clausen said. "However, everyone must realize and understand the plight of our domestic processors, workers and communities that are strongly dependent upon national forest for their resources."

School Fund Bill Passes Assembly

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A multimillion-dollar school finance bill that includes $155 million for local property tax relief was approved 69-0 by the Assembly today.

Assemblymen voted on the amalgamation of several school finance measures, expecting the Senate to reject the bill and send it to a two-house conference committee.

Some Assembly Republicans originally objected to the measure. The vote came after separate caucuses of both lower house parties.

The Assembly Ways and Means Committee amended the tax relief plan into a bill that would also provide some $50 million to schools primarily in poor neighborhoods.

Reagan Signs, Praises Nation's Most Stringent Auto Smog Law

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Determined to cleanse its air by 1975, California has a new law aimed at forcing the nation's automakers to develop better antismog devices or risk losing their richest market.

Gov. Ronald Reagan signed the Pure Air Act of 1968 yesterday.

Reagan, surrounded by Democratic and Republican legislators, declared it "represents a major step toward removing the automobile as a primary source of air pollution in California."

The heart of the act is a set of standards clamping limits on the amount of gasses that can be emitted into the atmosphere from motor vehicle exhausts—the source of 50 per cent or more of smog.

The standards take effect with the 1970 model year for gasoline-powered cars, buses and trucks, and toughen gradually through 1974.

The "California goal for pure air quality is the achievement of an atmosphere with no significant detectable adverse effect from motor vehicle air pollution on health, welfare and the quality of life and property by 1975," the law says.

The penalty for those who cannot meet the standards: Their cars, starting with the 1970 model, cannot be sold or registered in California, which has 12 million motor vehicles, and more than 10 per cent of America's licensed drivers.

The measure includes a provision, however, that would allow a board appointed by the governor to temporarily exempt an auto manufacturer from the

Gun Control Vote Proposal Goes Before Full Assembly

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A proposed November ballot test on gun registration went before the full Assembly today.

A final vote had been possible today, but Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Inglewood, said he might not bring the bill up until next week.

Earlier, Unruh said Republicans must take full blame if the ballot proposal fails to pass the Assembly.

Should that happen, he promised to carry the gun control issue "to every place a Democrat is running against a Republican this year" and try to defeat the Republican.

Unruh rallied all but one of his Democrats present last night to win passage, 40-33, of amendments rewriting an obscure Senate bill to put the gun issue to a vote of the people in the general election Nov. 5.

Solidly united, Republicans battled the ballot proposal as an abdication of legislative responsibility.

Republican Assembly man Pete Wilson of San Diego challenged Unruh to bring the gun control bill itself to a vote now rather than seek guidance from the people.

But the speaker acknowledged to reporters he wasn't able to keep all 42 Democrats united because several from rural areas believed they could not vote for tougher gun controls in this election year. Forty-one votes are needed for final passage.

Earlier yesterday, the revised gun measure passed the Assembly Election Committee in simplified form, with some excess wordage trimmed from the original, confusing 37-word version.

This is the question that now would be put to the voters: "Should legislation be enacted requiring registration of the Post Office Plans Last Minute Advice

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Post Office made last minute plans today to advise more than 12,000 post offices to continue to stay open all day Saturday in the event the Senate votes to exempt the department from a congressional economy edict.

A vote was scheduled tentatively for late afternoon in an attempt to head off the looming weekend cutback in mail service which would extend to other cutbacks if the department was forced to cut back personnel.

British Doctors Transplant Heart

LONDON (UPI)—British doctors performed their second heart transplant today in a three-hour operation on a 48-year-old man in a "very grave state" with chronic heart disease.

The National Heart Hospital announced that the recipient, identified in the British press as Reginald A. Forde, was in "as satisfactory" condition as could be expected considering his state before the operation.

HOLLYWOOD TO GHETTO

Stepin Fetchit Defends His Old Roles

CHICAGO (UPI)—Once upon a time, Stepin Fetchit had 12 cars, including a pink Cadillac with his name in neon lights on it. His home was a palace with 16 Chinese servants at his beck and call.

The Negro character actor was famous on movie screens for shuffling his feet, scratching his head, making wild eyes the size of saucers and talking an unintelligble Southern dialect thick and slow as syrup.

Now, the cars and servants, the silk suits and soft Hollywood living are gone. Stepin Fetchit, 76 —born Lincoln Theodore Monroe Andrew Perry in Alabama in 1892—lives on the South Side of Chicago, a black ghetto rampant with poverty and gang warfare.

The laughter he hears in this day of "Black Power" is not so much with him and the funny things he did, but at him. What is worse, the laughter comes from some of his own people who say they are ashamed at the dumb and lazy way he acted on the screen.

STEPIN FETCHIT
(UPI Telephotos)

"It was just a gimmick with me to make money," the graying comedian said in his own defense Thursday.

Fetchit, who began his screen career in 1925 with the movie, "In Old Kentucky," spoke out in an interview against a recent major source of criticism—a CBS television series called "Black History—Lost, Stolen or Strayed." The series was narrated by "I Spy" televison series star Bill Cosby, also a Negro. Cosby criticized Fetchit for portraying what he said was a superstitious, sterotype of an "Uncle Tom" servant.

Fetchit, who has asked for equal time to "repair the damages" to his image, said the series "distorted the records."

He protested that the recent showing of his "lovable-natural-wise-patriotic-noninferior role" in a 40-year-old movie was taken out of context, was distorted and was trying to cast him as "a villian."

"They . . . make out like I hurt the Negro when I was using the only thing that was available to the Negro at the time," said Fetchit, who appeared on the big screen with

Hijack Release Seen

ALGIERS (AP) —Eight of the 22 Israelis held in Algiers since the hijacking of an Israeli airliner may be released tomorrow, informed sources said today.

They said four women, two of them hostesses on the El Al jetliner — and four children would be put on a plane for Rome. Algerian government spokesmen refused to confirm or deny the report.

The government has informed the Italian Embassy that all the captives are in good health, including the copilot who was hit on the head when three armed Arabs hijacked the Boeing 707 jet between Rome and Tel Aviv Tuesday and diverted it to Algiers.

Liz To Go Home

LONDON (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor's doctors told her today she can leave the Fitzroy Nuffield Nursing Home next Tuesday or Wednesday.

The actress has improved steadily since she had a partial hysterectomy last Sunday. It was not known whether she would go to the luxurious yacht which she and her husband, Richard Burton, have moored in the Thames, or to the hotel suite they also maintain.

Passport Returned

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stokely Carmichael's passport, taken from him last year after he visited Cuba and North Vietnam against federal regulations, has been ordered returned by the State Department.

A department spokesman said Carmichael asked for his passport to honeymoon with his new wife, African folk singer Miriam Makeba, at an undisclosed location abroad.

LBJ Letter Sold

NEW YORK (AP) — A letter from President Johnson to a California man, written only last April 4, has been auctioned for $250.

The letter, apparently commenting on the President's decision not to seek re-election, was hand-signd according to Charles Hamilton Galleries.

The one-page, typewritten letter to Robert Himmelsbach of LaVerne (Imperial County) says in part: "I am heartfully grateful for your kind message. It strengthens my deep faith that Americans will come together in this critical hour, placing the cause of peace and freedom above any personal or partisan concern. . . ."

The letter was purchased last night by David Terhune-Thomas, a New York stockbroker.

Los Angeles 'Calm'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Although black nationalists have been buying guns and using them for target practice, Police Chief Thomas Reddin says Los Angeles is "remarkably calm."

He said police have been keeping an eye on the black nationalist shooting sessions, and that the Negroes were aware of it.

Reddin called a news conference yesterday to clarify remarks made earlier in Long Beach to the effect that black militants were practicing guerrilla-type warfare. He said he hadn't meant to alarm.

First American

BARSTOW (AP) — An archaeologist associated with the Calico digs says major breakthroughs in dating the arrival of man in North America have been made.

Ruth D. Simpson, project field director, said yesterday evidence of man dating back 80,000 years has ben found at the California site. She said new techniques developed in the desert excavations may roll man's arrival date on this continent back even further.

It had previously been theorized that man came to this continent about 37,000 years ago.

Hideaway Refused

PAGO PAGO, America Samoa (AP) — The New Zealand government has denied Richard Ault, a former Akron, Ohio, radio announcer, permission to settle on the South Pacific island of Suvaroz, 600 miles east of here.

Ault, his wife Lois and their 4-year-old daughter, Tracy, have been trying to find a deserted island to live on — to "get away from it all."

The family arrived at Pago Pago aboard the Italian freighter Fraziella Zeta only to be informed that permission to settle on Suvarov for a year was rejected.

"One thing is certain," said Ault, 30, "we will not give up."

Fortas Hearing Ends; Senators Differ On Effect

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert P. Griffin says the drive he leads to block confirmation of Abe Fortas as chief justice has gained new strength as a result of just-concluded Senate Judiciary Committee hearings.

But Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., said yesterday he is confident "a substantial majority of senators will vote to confirm" Fortas.

The Judiciary Committee completed hearings of Fortas' nomination to head the Supreme Court earlier in the day but was not expected to act on it before September because of the upcoming recess for political conventions.

"We are picking up strength among both Republican and Democratic senators," Griffin said in an interview.

But Griffin could not say how much new strength he had gained.

N.Y. Magazine Bombed; Anti-Castroites Brag

NEW YORK (AP) — A "powerful hand grenade" exploded today in the offices of the Evergreen Review in Greenwich Village, shattering three windows but causing no injuries. It was the 12th bombing incident in the metropolitan area since April 22.

Moments later a man who said he was speaking for a newly formed anti-Castro exile group telephoned The Associated Press and claimed credit for the attack as well as for two earlier bombs which did not explode.

The caller said: "We have begun to commemorate the morning of the 26th of July. Commandos of the MNCC have attacked at 2:35 a.m. the office of Evergreen magazine."

He said the attack was made because the magazine had published the Che Guevara diary "and because of their position in favor of international communism."

Today, the 26th of July, is the 15th anniversary of the beginning of the Cuban revolution. In 1953 guerrillas directed by Fidel Castro raided Cuban army barracks in Santiago to launch the eventual overthrow of the Batista government.

The 11 previous bombing incidents, including one in Newark, N.J., have been at eight foreign tourist or diplomatic offices of countries which trade with Cuba, two taverns frequented by Cubans and a pacifist bookstore.

The man who called The Associated Press identified the newly formed group as the Moviento Nacional de Coalicion Cubano.

Chicago Vandalism Brings Disturbance

CHICAGO (AP) — More than a dozen persons were injured last night when Negro youths vandalized a food store on Chicago's North Side. In suburban Maywood another crowd smashed store windows after police used tear gas to disperse demonstrators at the village hall.

Twenty-five persons were arrested in Maywood. Three were held on disorderly conduct charges after the Chicago disturbance.

In Maywood, an integrated city of 30,000 15 miles west of Chicago's downtown section, trouble started after a meeting of a local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

A police spokesman said after the NAACP meeting about 300 Negro youths marched a mile to the Maywood Village Hall where the village board was meeting on the second floor.

They were refused entry and police hurled a tear gas cannister when they failed to disperse. The youths hurled it back and went downtown where they smashed store windows, overturned park benches and hurled objects at passing vehicles.

The disturbance on Chicago's North Side started after a large group of young Negroes listened to talk described as inflammatory, according to Sid Bennett, 35, a Negro who lives in the area.

"About 8 to 10 men, some dressed in African-style garb were inciting the crowd," said Bennett. "They were outside agitators."

Bennett, a karate expert, rescued Mel Larson, 54, a Sun-Times photographer who was beaten around the face and suffered chest injuries, including possible broken ribs by a Negro gang. He was reported in fair condition.

Police Use Tear Gas In Seattle

SEATTLE (AP) — Police said they used tear gas last night to break up a group of disorderly persons in the city's predominantly Negro central area.

Officers said the tear gas was used when a group of 50 to 75 youths gathered across the street from Garfield High School. Patrolmen moved in after the gas grenade was fired and the crowd dispersed.

A short time earlier a panel truck was set on fire. August Budnick, 57, told police 20 persons — mostly teen-agers — approached his vehicle and tossed firebombs.

Budnick said he was threatened with robbery by two men driving nearby, but was able to escape and make his way to a fire station. He was not injured.

Earlier yesterday Fire Marshal Stephen H. MacPherson said "civil disturbances" in Seattle have resulted in 102 arson fires causing total damage estimated at $385,861 since Jan. 1.

"We've had many more arson fires, actually," MacPherson said. "These only are fires that involve civil disturbances."

He said 54 of the fires were caused by firebombings. Most have occurred in the past three months, and especially this month.

Erie Police, Firemen Face Rock Tossers

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — Police and firemen were pelted with rocks and bottles early today when they responded to a fire in the heart of the city's Negro area.

Police said the fire at the Arthur F. Schultz warehouse was caused by a fire bomb thrown through a window.

Police arrested Negro militant Bennie Wall when, they said, he threatened to shoot police Capt. Harry Stascewski between the eyes. Police said Wall was not armed.

Wall was arrested on charges of inciting to riot and was arraigned before Alderman James Hogan and released on $500 bond.

Police said there was extensive smoke and water damage to the restaurant supply house. It could not be determined how many people were at the scene.

Fire Meet Monday

The Kentfield Fire District Board meeting ordinarily held on the fourth Thursday of the month was postponed until Monday at 8 p.m. at the fire house. Routine business is on the agenda.

Francois Blasts, Alioto Backs San Francisco's Chief Cahill

SANd FRANCISCO (AP) — Terry Francois, San Francisco's only Negro supervisor, used his last hour as acting mayor yesterday to demand the dismissal of Police Chief Thomas Cahill.

Francois was critical of Cahill's handling of the police intelligence and community relations units, his failure to formulate a gun policy and what he called the city's "open prostitution."

Francois said racial unrest in Cleveland and the fear that "we'll wake up one morning and find ourselves in a race war" compelled him to speak.

Mayor Joseph Alioto, informed of Francois' comments as he stepped off the plane from Washington, D.C., disagreed.

"I think he has done a good job and I am confident he and the police commissioner will make the changes needed to deal with contemporary problems," Alioto said of the chief.

Francois said the police intelligence unit, comprised of five men, had no Negro. He contended Cahill has failed to use the community relations unit when "touchy situations" arose in the Haight-Ashbury hippie district.

Cahill, who has been chief 10 years, called a news conference and said he has no intention of resigning.

"I will stand on my record," he said. "I have taken this department through 10 of the touchest years it has seen. I will not resign.

"I think the citizens of San Francisco know me well and can judge me."

Cahill said the intelligence unit was "working fine" but conceded that the police commission has urged him to replace Thomas Fitzpatrick, head of the intelligence unit, with Inspector Edward J. Nevin.

Fitzpatrick, answering Franchois' charge about lack of Negroes on the unit, said some "fine Negro officers were promoted out from under me."

Cahill, a veteran of 26 years in the department, is the only police chief selected by the President to serve on his Commission on Law Enforcement.

FBI, Born Of Need, Turns 60 Today Amid Controversy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation, born almost out of desperation and mired in its early years in political problems, is 60 years old today.

But the bureau planned no celebration. For the FBI's 16,000 employees it was just another work day.

Although the FBI of 1968 is one of the most controversial, efficient and—some say—powerful government agencies, it was founded almost as a desperation move July 26, 1908, by then Atty. Gen. Charles J. Bonaparte.

The Justice Department had been borrowing investigators from the Treasury Department's Secret Service to collect evidence for cases, but Congress prohibited that practice on May 27, 1908, and an independent agency was set up.

When J. Edgar Hoover — then 29 — took over in 1924 the agency had become mired in the administration of political hacks.

The FBI began to attract widespread publicity in the 1930s through its battles with the growing crime syndicates.

The most celebrated shootout of the '30s took place on July 22, 1934, in front of Chicago's Biograph Theater when Agent Melvin "Little Mel" Purvis killed bank robber John Dillinger. Purvis was one of very few FBI agents ever to pierce the bureau's traditional veil of anonymity.

Czech Boss Stays Put But General Is Fired

PRAGUE (UPI)—Communist Party leader Alexander Dubcek remains in firm control of the party's 11-man presidium in the face of mounting Soviet demands he abandon Czechoslovakia's liberal course, the Czech news agency CTK said today.

Czech newspapers' fiery editorials also gave every indication the party's line remains unchanged despite such serious Soviet charges as that Western backed forces are on the verge of calling for a coup to end 20 years of Communist rule in Czechoslovakia.

The Soviet fears that Czechoslovakia would turn to capitalism lay behind this great crisis in the Eastern bloc of Communist nations. Russia has said it will never permit this because Czechoslovakia is a key to the defense of Russia itself. The use of force remained a vivid threat.

The newspaper Obrana Ldu, a weekly issued by the defense ministry, accused the Soviet Union today of delivering an ultimatum demanding Czech Communists stop their reform program. It defied the Russians and said, "The Czech public is not going to commit suicide."

The Czechs bowed to Soviet pressure and ousted Lt. Gen. Vaclav Prchlik from his high party office yesterday. But in a defiant move they simultaneously abolished Prchlik's Eight Commission command—a key commissar system aimed at policing the Communist system in the army and other government bodies. Russia has attacked him for alleged anti-Communist practices.

There were reports Dubcek had been outvoted 6 to 5 in the Presidium on an important question in connection with the Presidium's forthcoming meeting with the Soviet Politburo. But in response to a question CTK told UPI: "The Reuters and Associated Press reports you mention are untrue."

It meant that when the unprecedented Presidium-Politburo meeting takes place Dubcek will be in control of his group. The Presidium and Politburo include the top government and party officials of both Czechoslovakia and the Soviet Union and in effect rule their respective countries. They are answerable to their much large central committees.

such stars as Shirley Temple, Will Rogers and Janet Gaynor.

"I was defying the unwritten law that the Negro had no civil rights and I was doing it in a way that wouldn't hurt anybody."

Fetchit's attorney, Marshall Cooper, said the CBS presentation "has greatly sacrificed a legendary figure in the history of show business. Fetchit made a definite contribution to black progress in America."

Fetchit is separated from his second wife, whom he married in 1950. His first wife, the mother of his four children, died in 1929. He first left Hollywood in 1938, he said, "when the subversive groups began to take over," and came out of retirement briefly in 1950 just long enough to play a bit part in "Bend of the River," the movie that launched Rock Hudson's career.

The comedian's riches, estimated at $2 million at one time, began to dwindle after he made his last movie in 1953, a remake of "Judge Priest," which Will Rogers had starred in nearly 20 years before. He helped form a corporation that bought the rights and script for a motion picture about the great Negro baseball pitcher Satchel Paige.

"The corporation got into financial trouble and I was bankrupt," he said.

"Today, I'm the funniest Negro comedian alive," Fetchit said in 1964 when he was a charity patient at Cook County Hospital.

At that time, he pointed out that he was the first black man on The Jack Paar television show, that he was a man who had helped his people.

"They're making me a villain. If it weren't for me there wouldn't be any Sidney Poitier or Bill Cosby," Stepin Fetchit said yesterday.

expected big enemy attack on Saigon and other major population centers. Military spokesmen said in the 24 hours ending at noon today, eight more Vietnamese were killed and 26 wounded in terrorist attacks at various other cities and towns.

In the only significant ground action reported, units of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division sweeping near Saigon suffered 13 dead and 27 wounded in a 14-hour battle yesterday with North Vietnamese troops 27 miles northwest of the capital.

The Americans reported killing 20 of the enemy with the help of helicopter gunships, fighter-bombers and artillery.

As the drive kept up to blunt the anticipated enemy offensive, American warplanes attacked enemy supply lines in North and South Vietnam, and troops of the Air Cavalry Division uncovered two more big arms dumps in the mountainous area west of Hue, the old imperial capital 45 miles below the demilitarized zone.

6-Year-Old Girl Bitten By Dog

Claudine Marie Dallara, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dallara of 10 Bret Avenue, San Rafael, was bitten by a dog yesterday and received cuts on the left check, lower eyelid and nose, San Rafael Police said.

The child was playing in the driveway of 5 Dolores Street, at the home of Emile Larrouy, 68, when she tried to pet Larrouy's dog, Rusty, according to the report.

Claudine was treated by her family doctor.

Police said Rusty, a terrier, had had rabies shots, the last one two days before the incident. Larrouy agreed to keep his dog confined for 10 days.

PG&E Take In Excess, Lawyer Says

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — No sooner did Pacific Gas & Electric Co. answer one attack by San Francisco lawyer Orville I. Wright than it was hit with a new one.

Wright, formerly of the city attorney's office and now in private practice, leveled his new blast at PG&E in a formal complaint filed yesterday with the Public Utilities Commission. He said the company is collecting $42 million annually more than it is entitled to.

He charged that in the last decade:

The company's per share earnings have doubled and the per share dividend increased from 82 cents to $1.40.

The company's net income has doubled.

The company's total taxes have been reduced by 25 per cent.

The company's total gross output of electricty has doubled.

Flyers Fail To Arrive In Laos

Three American airmen, two of them from Marin, whose release from captivity was promised eight days ago in Hanoi, failed to arrive in Vientiane, Laos, today, the Associated Press reported.

Maj. James F. Low, 43, of Sausalito and Capt. Joe Victor Carpenter, 37, whose family live in Ignacio, were scheduled to arrive with Maj. Fred Meale Thompson, 32, of Taylors, S.C., aboard the weekly International Control Commission flight from the North Vietnamese capital.

It was the second time the fliers had failed to show up on the ICC flight, the only scheduled air service linking North Vietnam and outside countries that does not pass through Communist China.

Low, a Korean War ace, was shot down by a missile Dec. 16. Carpented was captured Feb. 15.

Tam Fire Board Funds Generator

Tamalpais Fire Protection District directors dipped into general reserve funds last night to come up with $400 for an automatic generator for the district's communications center, Director Carl H. Modell reported.

The funds will be added to $400 previously allocated from capital outlay funds to purchase the generator which costs $800, he said.

Directors also adopted the 1965 fire prevention code and watched a demonstration of a tape recorder which would record radio calls made in connection with any fire. No decision was made on purchasing the tape recorder, he said.

Capital Newspaper Negotiations On

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Negotiations to end the first newspaper blackout here in almost 20 years continued today under supervision of federal mediators. Sources close to the talks said they were "not optimistic" a quick settlement would be reached.

The strike has shut down all three of the city's daily newspapers — The Washington Daily News, The Evening Star and The Washington Post.

Cleveland Mayor Lashed For Handling Of Violence

Guardsmen patrolled a seven-square-mile area, stopping persons on the nearly deserted streets and ordering cars from the district.

John Little, the mayor's executive secretary, said there were "no major incidents and no confirmed reports of sniping" last night and early today. Thirty persons were arrested, 27 of them for curfew violations, one for attempted arson and two for looting. This brought the total arrests for three days to 96.

Little said there were seven fires, including one at an East Side bowling alley that firemen fought for five hours.

Merchants and police differed on the protection supplied to shops in the troubled area.

Benjamin Weiss, owner of a furniture store, said looters broke into his store while two Negro policemen watched.

"I asked the Negro policemen why they didn't stop the looters and they said there were too many in the mob," Weiss said.

Some Negro patrolmen said that merchants allowed gangs to loot their stores so they could collect insurance.

They said the shopowners would ask for protection while they removed valuable items from the stores.

"Then after they got everything of value on the truck," a policeman said, "they'd tell the gang outside—'go ahead, it's all yours.'"

Wednesday, Stokes chose to let black community leaders try to control the tense situation. He reversed that stand yesterday.

He apparently had no choice.

Several members of the mayor's committee told newsmen they would not act as peacemakers last night because they had seen evidence of professional looters coming in from out of town and they feared they could not control these elements.

They said if widespread looting began, the young people of the community might join in and, if a situation got out of control, the black leaders would shoulder the blame.

Fifty of the leaders voted to "return the city to the mayor," and Stokes, speaking with emotion, read the curfew edict.

He said that the curfew and return of the guardsmen did not mean the use of the black leaders was a failure, but the move may have cost him the confidence of the Negro community.

"It was a hell of a gamble," one city official said, "a tremendous political coup if it worked. Now it is going to be read as a bum decision."

Another blow was the admission by city officials yesterday that a black nationalist being held in connection with the gun battle received $10,000 from "Cleveland Now," an ambitious Stokes project for rebuilding the community.

Fred "Ahmed" Evans, 37, a black nationalist and astrologer, was quoted by police as saying he led 17 men in the ambush which killed three police.

Evans' organization, the African Cultural Shop, received $10,000 in Cleveland Now funds channeled through the Hough Area Development Corp. Hough has received $1.6 million in federal funds, but a spokesman said no federal money was involved in the grant to Evans.

Evans pleaded innocent in Municipal Court today to charges of shooting with intent to kill a police tow truck operator, possession of narcotics and possession of an automatic rifle.

Judge Ray C. Miller set bond at $100,000 on the intent to kill charge and at $75,000 on each of the other charges. Evans was returned to jail to await a preliminary hearing set by Miller for Aug. 7.

Three white persons were arrested in Cleveland last night in connection with the shooting of Clifford C. Miller, 22, one of seven Negroes who were killed Tuesday.

A man and his two teen-age sons were being held for investigation after witnesses told police a car carrying white occupants stopped at an intersection where Miller and some friends were waiting for a bus. No charges have been placed against the three.

The white persons got out of the car, beat and shot Miller, the witnesses said.

Tam Valley Man Has Home, Boat Burglarized

Four burglaries were reported today by sheriff's officers.

Douglas Scott Kerr of 123-B Morningsun Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, reported Wednesday that burglars entered both his home and his locked boat at Kappas Yacht Harbor, Waldo Point.

The burglars apparently cut away a padlock on the boat, officers said. Taken were camera equipment, a television set, and a knife. Total value was estimated at $600.

A .22-caliber pistol and 500 bullets were taken from Kerr's home. No forced entry was evident.

Erwin Frey, 41 Bay Vista Drive, Strawberry, told deputies Wednesday someone took two lamps from an unoccupied house at 86 Bay Vista Drive. No forced entry was apparent.

Someone entered an unlocked sliding glass door at the home of Samme G. Darnall, 326 Holly Drive, Terra Linda, making off with 40 silver dollars, 14 Canadian dollars, and $5 in quarters, he reported Wednesday.

Chamber To Hear Hub Traffic Report

A report on the traffic studies for the Hub, Sir Francis Drake and Center boulevards will be given by San Anselmo City Engineer Charles R. Leitzell to the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce at a meeting at 12:15 p.m. Sept. 5 at the San Francisco Theological Seminary.

Chamber secretary-manager William A. Trewhella said that the chamber will not meet in August. He predicted that after hearing Leitzell's report the chamber will make a recommendation to the city council which is considering plans for the revamping of the Hub intersection and widening of the two boulevards.

Woman's Lip Cut In Wreck

Edna M. Hana of 16 Oak Avenue was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Police said she hit the rear of a car driven by Roy L. Giusti, 23, of 609 E Street, San Rafael, which slammed into one driven by Mickey Day Watkins, 24, of 31-I Circle Drive, Tiburon. Mrs. Watkins had stopped in front of 965 Magnolia Avenue to make a left turn into the Woodlark Apartments, police said.

smog limits if he could show he was working on the problem.

The new law says a 1970 model car should emit no more than 2.2 grams of hydrocarbons and 23 grams of carbon monoxide from the exhaust each mile.

The following model year, a maximum of three grams of oxides of nitrogen is added to the standards. And the whole set gets tougher on a sliding scale in subsequent years.

Smog control devices are required at present but standards are not as high as they will be in 1970.

The California standards will exceed those of the federal anti-pollution act passed last year.

The legislation's author, Democratic Assemblyman John F. Foran of San Francisco, agreed with industry critics that the new law will increase the cost of cars sold in California. One expert estimated the added cost at about $30 per vehicle.

Auto industry spokesmen in Detroit had no immediate comment on how the new law would affect production or sales prices of particular models.

Also subject to the standards will be buses and trucks not powered by diesel fuel. Diesel-run vehicles must meet, by Jan. 1, 1973, antismog limits not yet spelled out.

The new law also would allow the state to impose antismog exhaust controls on the more than five million cars now uncontrolled. However, they could be brought under coverage when developers produce an effective device acceptable to the state and costing no more than $65.

transfer of ownership (including the sale) of all firearms?"

Removed from the suggested proposition, which would not be binding on the legislature, was whether gun owners should be licensed.

Even if the ballot measure passed the Assembly, it would have to face a hostile Senate, Gov. Ronald Reagan and an impending deadline for getting the ballots printed. Reagan said yesterday he's convinced the people don't want gun registration.

Gun Clubs Sue In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — San Francisco's new gun registration ordinance was challenged in court yesterday by the United Sportsmen of San Francisco, an organization of 30 gun clubs.

Attorny Herbert C. Kohlwes filed the suit in Superior Court in behalf of John Galvin, a member of one of the clubs.

The new law, which goes into effect Aug. 16, requires all guns in the city to be registered at a cost of $2 each. Violators could be fined a maximum of $500 and given six months in jail.

Superior Judge Charles Perry set Aug. 1 for a hearing to determine whether to suspend the effectice date of the ordinance pending outcome of the suit.

"There are between 75,000 and 100,000 owners of firearms in San Francisco whose rights and obligations will be affected by the decision of this court," Kohlwes said. "Accordingly, speedy and prompt relief is sought."

DOUG DICKER is backed up by more than an auto showroom.

The cars we will help sell in America in 1968 will be a 86.6% increase over 1967. The nationwide 470-dealer organization of Fiat is one of the glamor-growth stories of automotive merchandising in the U.S.A. World sales of 1,365,000 units last year raised Fiat to the position of the fourth largest automobile manufacturer in the world!

To display everything that stands behind a Fiat dealership would take a showroom as big as a town: Fiat jet defense planes, rail cars, marine engines, farm equipment, earthmovers, electrical generators — all the products which make Fiat the twelfth largest industrial complex outside the U.S.A. with sales of over $1.7 billion.

But what makes your local Fiat dealer a successful businessman is not the sheer size of the industry that stands behind the cars, nor the nationwide distribution network that stands ready to sell and service them. It is the destiny-tipping good fortune of having the right cars to sell at the right time in the right place! And at the right price.

Vice Presidential Prospects Steal Limelight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The often-slighted office of vice president is moving to the forefront of the political campaign because of two men representing the youthful, liberal and urban-minded wings of their parties.

Word from Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., is considering the possibility of making himself available, accelerated a drive to put the brother of slain Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in second place on the Democratic ticket.

A charge by an aide of Richard M. Nixon that the "lure of the vice presidency" had caused Sen. Charles H. Percy to endorse Nelson A. Rockefeller yesterday for a top GOP nomination put a spotlight on back stage maneuvering in the Republican camp over the second office.

Saying that he hopes Kennedy will accept a draft, Daley added that the senator "said he was considering it." Daley has declined to take sides in the battle of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., for the presidential nomination.

But most of those who have been talking publicly about Kennedy have made it clear they think that as No. 2 man he would attract big city and liberal support in November to a ticket headed by Humphrey.

However, the New York Times in a story from Washington by Executive Editor James Reston said in its edition today that Kennedy has drafted a plain and unambiguous statement taking himself out of consideration for the vice presidential nomination.

Humphrey, the Times said, is now convinced that Kennedy will not be available and is considering McCarthy and Kennedy's brother-in-law Sargent Shriver as his running mate.

The situation involving Percy is a little more complicated. The Illinois senator's announcement that he will back what he called Gov. Rockefeller's "underdog" bid for the Republican presidential nomination brought a quick reaction from the Nixon camp.

Herbert G. Klein, press secretary for the former vice president, told a news conference in New York that it could only be concluded that "the lure of the vice presidency" was involved in Percy's action.

Percy himself said he is backing the New York governor because of the latter's Vietnam views and because he thinks he has a better chance to win in November than Nixon. He added that he will support whomever the GOP convention nominates.

Nixon said Percy's endorsement "indicates an open convention" at Miami Beach.

Nixon was a guest on the Joey Bishop show, taped last night in Hollywood, for airing tonight on the ABC network.

McCARTHY

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, fresh from an enthusiastic reception by an overflow crowd at Fenway Park, is challenging vice president Hubert H. Humphrey to debate him before the delegates at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

All seats, every aisle and every available square foot of standing room were filled at last night's rally that tallied 35,875 at the stadium turnstiles.

McCarthy drew cheers as he called 1968 "the year of manifestation of freedom" and predicted that he will win the Democratic presidential nomination and win the November election.

Commenting earlier at a news conference on Humphrey's contention that any public debate between them be delayed until the weeks before the national convention opens Aug. 26, McCarthy said that was too long to wait, because there would not then be enough time for public evaluation of the candidates to have an influence on convention delegates.

If Humphrey is unwilling to debate him sooner, McCarthy said the vice president should agree to debate the issues with him "in front of the assembled delegates."

In Washington, a statement issued by Humphrey headquarters said his forces still prefer one discussion the week before the convention.

WALLACE

CRANSTON, R.I. (AP) — George C. Wallace said last night it took his American Independent party five minutes to sign up 500 voters, the number required to get on the Rhode Island ballot.

Wallace spoke at a noisy and unruly rally where his supporters cheered and hecklers yelled "Go home!"

About 12 hecklers were escorted from the packed ballroom after scuffling and pushing broke out. Police estimated attendance at 2,400 to 3,000.

Wallace was interrupted repeatedly. A Negro, identified as John Reynolds, stood up and gesturing angrily chanted, "You're lying! Tell them the truth baby."

The crowd responded with a roar of "We Want Wallace!"

Reynolds said he was the Rhode Island head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Several of the demonstrators were Negroes. Two Negroes held a placard directly in front of Wallace. It said: "Not even Jesus could forgive what you do."

Wallace, between interruptions, spoke out against anarchy and what he described as the loss of property rights and Supreme Court decisions tying the hands of police.

In neighboring Massachusetts, Wallace's drive to be listed on the ballot appeared more difficult than it did earlier this week.

An Associated Press survey showed that officials in communities containing two-thirds of the state's registered voters have certified less than two thirds of the 61,236 signatures the former Alabama governor must submit to the Massachusetts secretary of state next Tuesday.

NIXON

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon has lost ground in recent weeks among Washington's 24 delegates to the Republican National Convention, a survey shows.

An Associated Press check brought responses from 17 delegates who said they were for Nixon, one for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, and six who said they were undecided.

At the time they were picked at the state convention in Seattle June 22, all but two of the 24 delegates said they favored Nixon. The two were undecided.

Four of those who said they were undecided were wavering between Nixon and California Gov. Ronald Reagan. One was undecided whether to be for Nixon or Rockefeller.

BOYCOTT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Accusing Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan of backing "strike-breakers," Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy says he will support a labor dispute against California grape growers.

The Minnesota senator said he decided to back the boycotts because of actions taken by grape growers and a breakdown of government which "made an effective strike impossible."

"With the backing of Gov. Reagan, the California Department of Employment is apparently using its facilities to aid employment of new immigrants who thus become strike-abouts," McCarthy said.

There was no immediate comment from Reagan.

Mott said day-use and overnight facilities is increasing ten times faster than the state's population.

Split Vote Names Hub Treasurer To Audit Garbage Firm's Books

San Anselmo councilmen by a 3-1 vote last night named City Treasurer Hans E. Fischel, a public accountant who had offered his services free of charge, to audit the San Anselmo Garbage Disposal Company's books despite its objections to the choice.

Councilman Woodrow V. Capurro dissented from the vote which came at the end of a sometimes heated 40-minute special meeting called by Mayor C. Ragan to decide who would conduct an audit which the council had agreed Tuesday night was in order.

Its purpose is to enable councilmen to pass judgement on a 50-cent hike in monthly garbage collection fees asked by the firm by indicating the firm's margin of profit.

The firm's spokesman, San Rafael attorney Wallace S. Myers, said objections to the selection were based primarily on personality factors he preferred not to discuss in a public meeting.

He said any other auditor in Marin County would be acceptable and the firm would pay half the cost.

Fischel, who on April 9 was elected to the part-time city post, unseating George W. Prydz, is a public accountant and notary public which has an office in San Anselmo.

Ragan described Fischel as having "out of civic pride offered to do the job free of charge" and termed it "dangerous and nebulous to get into personalities."

He noted one auditing firm contacted would charge $16 per hour, with the total possibly amounting to between $500 and $1,000.

The mayor joined in voting to name Fischel by Councilmen Kenneth L. Anderson and James F. Reed. Vice Mayor Robert M. Scott was absent.

Capurro said he felt Fischel was capable but a "neutral, independent" auditor should have been named.

City Atty. John G. Buresh offered to hear the objections from Myers in private while the council took a recess, then tell councilmen whether he felt they were justified. Capurro made a motion calling for such a recess but it died for lack of a second.

The garbage fees requested would go from the present $2 to $2.50 for one 30-gallon container in flat areas; from $2.25 to $2.75 for up to 60 gallons of garbage in flat areas and on hills for 30-gallon containers; and from $3 to $3.50 on hills for up to 60 gallons.

Myers said the hike is necessary to cover salary hikes to firm employees who started a union contract July 1. He said the salary hikes are generally from $20 a day to $24.50.

He told newsmen the firm grosses roughly $146,000 annually, and the increases, if granted, would add about $33,000.

Marine Recruit Has Meningitis

CAMP PENDLETON (AP)—a 19-year-old Marine recruit has been listed in very serious condition as the eighth meningitis case of the year involving Marine recruits, Marine officials said today.

Pvt. Kenneth D. V. Martin of Los Angeles was admitted to the Camp Pendleton Naval Hospital Wednesday with meningococcal meningitis, an infection of the covering around the brain and spinal cord, doctors said.

Ross Budget Talks Reset For Aug. 15

Mayor Frederick S. Allen of Ross has announced that the adjourned meeting of the city council set for Aug. 1 will not be held.

The preliminary hearing on the budget has been rescheduled for Aug. 15 at 8 p.m. and the final hearing for Aug. 22 at 8 p.m.

A special meeting of the council with department heads will be held Aug. 7 at 8 p.m. It will be the first of a series of staff meetings to discuss any internal or joint problems which department heads may want to raise.

Town employees wishing to bring any problems to the council's attention have been asked to submit them in writing to their department heads before Aug. 7.

Chancellor Appointed For Junior Colleges

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sidney Brossman will become the first chancellor of California's 82 junior colleges.

Dr. Brossman, associate director of the Coordinating Council of Higher Education, was given the new $25,000-a-year post yesterday by the Board of the California Community Colleges, established July 1.

His selection was by a unanimous vote. To fill the new post, Brossman will take a $1,000 annual pay cut from what he has made for four and one-half years.

Brossman said he would like to conduct a study of the relationship of the 15-member board to the constitution and the authority of the board. He also said he would study the value given credits taken in junior colleges by state colleges or the University of California.

Meeting officially for the first time, the board unanimously selected Brossman after a three-hour executive session. Board president Harold F. Wolters said he didn't know exactly when Brossman would assume his new duties but said the appointment was effective immediately.

Brossman said he felt the new board faced a great challenge but had a "bright future."

Although the board received only $814,000 of the $1.3 million requested from the legislature, Brossman said "it is enough so that we can get off the ground in our first year."

Before joining the coordinating council, Brossman was an associate professor of English at California State College at Fullerton.

Board Keeps College Experimental Schools

HAYWARD (UPI)—State College Trustees gave the experimental programs at nine colleges a negative vote of confidence Thursday—by deciding to leave them alone.

The programs received both criticism and praise during a three and one-half hour meeting of the trustees' educational policies committees.

Presentations in favor of retaining the colleges were made by student body presidents and by David Goldberg of the U.S. Office of Education's Bureau of Research.

Goldberg said San Francisco State's experimental college is "probably the most exciting and important innovation in higher education today," because it is "really experimental, and higher education is badly in need of experiment but is too bureaucratic to undertake it itself."

Trustee Dudley Swim of Carmel Valley sought censure of the programs, alleging various abuses and specifically objecting to a course on guerrilla warfare at San Francisco State.

During a long speech to the board, Swim— a recent appointee of Gov. Ronald Reagan—asked: "Are we going to give our local Viet Cong free play with our schools?". He apparently referred to the guerrilla warfare course.

"We all know there are networks and apparatuses busily engaged in trying to upset our society and to undermine it. The experimental colleges are an open invitation to abuse," Swim said.

Several trustees noted during the discussions that present policies make presidents responsible for all activities on their campuses.

They took no action on a resolution by Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke requesting college presidents to "establish clear lines of responsibility for the learning activities of the experimental colleges." Dumke said segments of the public and trustees had criticized some of the courses in the student-run programs.

Prisoners Take Up Family Life

TEHACHAPI (UPI)—A few short-term prisoners at the California Correctional Institute here are being permitted to live with their families for limited periods to ease the jarring transition back into society.

Visits with wives and children in private quarters for up to two days have been permitted for a handful of selected prisoners in a program that began July 1, it was disclosed today.

GOVERNOR INTERESTED

The Department of Corrections said it understood the rehabilitation program partly because of the interest of Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Reagan, a department spokesman said, expressed interest in the rehabilitation possibilities of conjugal visits. The governor asked R. K. Procunier, "is this a good program?" and Procunier said he would find out, the spokesman said.

Since the program started, 10 prisoners with good records, three months or less away from parole, have been allowed to spend up to 48 hours with their wives and children. Two three-bedroom private apartments, formerly prison staff quarters, are used for the visits.

CAREFULLY SCREENED

Phil Guthrie, department information officer, said the privilege is allowed only carefully screened inmates.

(No such program is likely at San Quentin Prison in the foreseeable future, Warden Louis S. Nelson said yesterday. He said the program at Tehachapi will be evaluated for some time before it is considered at other institutions, and that San Quentin lacks the required facilities.

("We're looking instead to legislation which would allow a man to go home on weekends 60 to 90 days before being released on parole, to make job contacts and build bridges back to the community," Nelson said.)

Mental Health Advisers Draft Contract On Center

A preliminary contract for operation of the community mental health center has been approved by the Marin County Mental Health Advisory Board.

The contract, between the county and the Marin Hospital District, now must be formally drawn and approved by the two groups.

The contract was submitted by the committee for administrative organization of the center to the advisory board at a meeting Wednesday evening, Dr. Clyde G. Miller, director of community mental health services, reported yesterday.

The advisory board also heard a report from Inspector William Burgess of the drug abuse bureau. He discussed the law enforcement approach to the drug problem, noting that a minor does not necessarily retain a police record after being in juvenile court for drug abuse.

He said his bureau agrees that law enforcement and education must be equally effective in solving the drug problem, Dr. Miller reported.

Warren G. Binzley, who will head the drug abuse educational program for Marin County schools, outlined plans for in-service training with teachers, hiring of consultants for school districts, accumulating a library of materials for use of teachers and public and approaching every responsible orgainzation in the community for support and assistance, Dr. Miller said.

The advisory board agreed on tentative agenda items for its meeting with the Marin County Board of Supervisors on Aug. 20.

Suggested items include the continuing role of the mental health advisory board, the significance of the board in connection with the opening of the new mental health center, expected in October and the possibility of working with the juvenile deliquency prevention commission.

Maddox Defends Police Gun Use

ATLANTA (UPI) — Lester Maddox, outspoken governor of Georgia, has urged police to stop pampering criminals and shoot to kill.

Ruffled over the outbreak of violence in which 10 persons died in Cleveland, Maddox said every police car should be equipped with a machinegun so officers can protect themselves and citizens.

"We've got to quit pacifying and pampering criminals and murderers," Maddox said. "We're killing police officers."

He said when police are dealing with snipers and firebombers, officers should "tell them to halt, and if they don't halt, kill them."

Greeter Service At State Border

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — California will establish a greeter service on an experimental basis at the Meyers agricultural inspection station near the Nevada border on Highway 50, Mrs. Janet J. McCoy, director of the office of tourism and visitors services announced today.

She said the station will dispense informational literature, give visitors a friendly welcome, and help create a favorable attitude toward the state.

Beaded State Seal

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Replica of the state seal, made with more than 87,000 beads was on display in the rotunda of the state Capitol today. The replica was made by Mrs Pine Eisfeller, resident of El Granada near Half Moon Bay in San Mateo County, and was presented as a gift to Gov. Ronald Reagan who turned it over to Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan for preservation in the state archives.

Involvement Held Cure For Racism

Twenty Marin residents last night heard Wallace K. Shepherd, new field representative of the Marin County Human Rights Commission, call for citizen involvement in the institutions of society as the way to reconciliation among the races.

The meeting was the third at St. Raphael's Church, San Rafael, to discuss the Report of the President's Commission on Civil Disorders (Kerner report).

Shepherd, who came to the Marin post from a position with the North Bay Human Developemnt Corporation in Vallejo, appeared in lieu of the scheduled speaker, Human Rights Director Austin J. Thompson, who had another meeting to attend.

Shepherd cited warnings in the Kerner report and in a recent New York Times article about the imminence of an American apartheid, increasing polarization of the races rather than reconciliation.

"It makes me want to laugh," he said without bitterness, "because we've really never been together.

"We must talk about commitment that is real, because polarization is here, it's real. Commitment means refusing to sit back and allowing the institution of racism to run our nation."

He found a primarily sympathetic audience, but one largely uncertain of what to do about the "institution of racism."

Shepherd urged involvement in local efforts and local institutions, recommending various activities of his commission as likely focal points. He mentioned city councils as the sort of institution subject to the influence of the interested citizen, noting that the San Rafael City Council, for example, will consider participation in a leased low-cost housing program with the Marin Housing Authority at its August 19 meeting.

Shepherd suggested churches as another institution which can be moved to action by concerned citizens. The federal Department of Housing and Urban Development, he said, has various low-cost housing programs by which both public bodies like city councils and private bodies like churches can, with a minimal investment, enlist federal aid in building and renovation of housing if they are moved to do so.

One young woman wondered if Negroes were of a mind to respond favorably to concrete efforts by concerned whites.

"They say we're pulling in to come back out as equals," Shepherd replied. "Only the Muslims speak of a separate black state.

"My definition of black power is self-determination. White people think it's happening suddenly, but it's really taken 400 years to happen.

'What can white America do? It must handle racism because I cannot handle white racism.'

"White people," he said with a chuckle, "have to pull themselves up by their bootstraps."

The next such community discussion of Kerner report issues will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Christ Presbyterian Church, Terra Linda.

Columnist Injured In Collision

Charles R. McCabe of Tiburon, 53-year-old columnist for the San Francisco Chronicle, suffered severe head cuts last night in a two-car collision just south of the Golden Gate Bridge Toll Plaza.

The California Highway Patrol said the accident occurred at 9:40 p.m. when McCabe's northbound car collided with the rear of one driven by Max H. Kraus, 40, of the Clift Hotel in San Francisco.

The impact tore the right front fender from McCabe's car and sent his vehicle spinning across six lanes of traffic, coming to rest in the south-bound right lane after striking the west retaining wall, officers said.

He was cited for driving under the influence of alcohol and failure to show a California driver's license after he refused to take a balance test and produced only a Nevada license, Officer Kent B. Bergquist reported.

Krause and two passengers, Marjorie, 38, and William, 15, complained of back pains but declined immediate medical assistance.

McCabe, who resides at 57 Belvedere Street, was reported in good condition this morning at Presbyterian Hospital in San Francisco.

Movie Mogul's Kin Divorced

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Brigitta C. De Mille has been granted a divorce after asserting her husband, the late movie director Cecil B. De Mille's grandson, drank and stayed out late.

The conduct of Allen Blount De Mille caused her to develop bleeding ulcers, his wife told Superior Court Judge Joseph L. Call.

The couple was married in Germany, her native land, in 1960 and had been separated since April 4, 1967.

De Mille won custody of their 6-year-old son Michael and his wife waived alimony under a property settlement Thursday. Both are 30.

Tam Rejects Draft Unit For Classes

Tamalpais High School District officials have turned down a request from the Marin Council on Draft Education to have a unit on the draft included in next year's American Government classes.

Director of instruction for the district, James L. Pierce, agreed, however, to provide pamphlets about the draft prepared by the council to counselors and American Government instructors.

Although the council opposes the draft, "It maintains an objective viewpoint" in the pamphlets, Pierce said.

High schools in the Tamalpais district are Sir Francis Drake, Tamalpais and Redwood.

The council On Draft Education was formed by a group of Marinites who want draft information taught in the schools. The chairman is Rev. Charles G. Robertson Jr., a Presbyterian minister who serves as chaplain to College of Marin students, though not affiliated with the college.

Mrs. Thomas C. Place of San Rafael, a council member, said that the council has not talked yet with administrators in the San Rafael High School District, which includes Terra Linda High School, but has received a sympathetic response from some teachers approached informally regarding draft education.

Only a few Novato Unified School District teachers and no Novato administrators, she said, have been contacted. The district includes Novato High School.

Begging Suspect Asks Wrong Man

An Oakland man was arrested for begging yesterday after he allegedly asked a Sausalito plainclothes policeman for some spare change.

Booked into Marin County jail for investigation of panhandling was Michael G. Robbins, 41, of Oakland. Bail was set at $35.

Police said Robbins approached Patrolman George W. Rudometkin who was walking by Vina Del Mar Plaza at 2:55 p.m. and asked the officer for some coins.

Rudometkin asked Robbins to repeat his question, which he did, police said, and then arrested him.

Samuel Banks Leads Marin City's Council

Rev. Samuel L. Banks Jr. of the Village Baptist Church, elected chairman at the first meeting of the Marin City Council last night, said "We want to move Marin City forward. If it takes becoming a city we will do that. In fact that's coming."

Council member Douglas Hayden Sr. referred to the work of the former Marin City Tenants Council in redeveloping Marin City in spite of the fact it was an unincorporated area.

"This is one thing a council can do," he said, "It can redevelop a city. You see it here."

Other officers elected were Barbara Douglas, vice chairman; Margaret Beauchamp, secretary; Susie Edwards, treasurer; Horace K. White, recording secretary and historian; and Ronald Foster, sergeant-at-arms.

Committees formed from the council and the audience were White, Mrs. Beauchamp, Wyna Brown and C. J. Williams, bylaws; Foster, Hayden, Miss Edwards, Constance Page, Leroy Thompson and Ephorn Freeman Jr., housing; White, Freeman, Mrs. Brown, Helen Washington and Gary Douglas, education; Freeman, Foster and Miss Edwards, financial; White, Foster, Hayden, Joseph B. Knighten and Earl D. Brown, job development and employment; Mrs. Douglas, Mrs. Beauchamp and Miss Edwards, public relations.

Acceptance of volunteers for the political action committee was tabled.

The council approved having four members serve on a joint committee with the Marin City Community Services District and redevelopment agency to explore the possibilities of the development of a 32-acre high school site.

Banks appointed Foster, Knighten, Mrs. Douglas and Mrs. Collie B. Gaines to the committee.

The council voted down a motion to allow any organization to designate a nonvoting member to the council saying it would make the council too unwieldy. It was pointed out that any citizen could bring up anything at council meetings anyway.

A special meeting was set for 8 p.m. Wednesday at Manzanita Center.

Regular meetings, it was decided, will be held the second and fourth Thursday of each month at 7:30 p.m. in the center.

The only council member absent last night was Mrs. Gaines.

The cooperative housing units are to appoint a 13th member to the council since a tie vote prevented a second member being chosen from those units.

The council is represented by seven members from public housing; two from the Oak Knoll apartments; two from private homes and two from cooperative apartments.

Today is Friday, July 26, the 208th day of 1968 with 158 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning star is Saturn. The evening stars are Venus and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1847, Liberia, the only sovereign Negro democracy in Africa, was declared a republic.

In 1941, Gen. Douglas MacArthur was appointed commander of the United States forces in the Philippines.

A thought for the day: Irish playwright George Bernard Shaw said, "The test of a man or woman's breeding is how they behave in a quarrel."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Only A Careful Expert Can Make This Difficult Slam Bid

You cannot win a tournament by being dealt cards like those in the South hand today. The 5,000 experts who will start play today in the national bridge tournament in Minneapolis know that what counts is not what cards you get but what you do with them.

TOURNEY PLAY

Since the same hands are played at many different tables in a tournament, you would expect dozens of tournament players to bid six spades with the North-South cards. Most of them would go down — even experts.

One easy way to go down is to draw trumps at once. Then you lose a heart and a club without any struggle. Some players would draw only two rounds of trumps and then take the queen, king and ace of hearts. East would ruff the ace of hearts and would eventually get a club trick. Better, but not good enough.

TWO ROUNDS

It is correct for South to draw only two rounds of trumps, but then he must cash the ace of hearts and lead a heart to dummy's queen. This puts him in position to lead the third heart from dummy. If East is out of hearts and has the last trump (as happens to be the case) he cannot gain by ruffing.

SHOULD DISCARD

If East ruffs (a weak defense), South plays his low heart. South later plays the king of hearts to discard a club from dummy. He can eventually ruff out his losing club.

East should discard on the third heart, and South wins with the king. South continues hearts, and West plays the jack. It would be fatal to ruff in dummy, for East would overruff and later get a club trick.

CORRECT PLAY

Instead, South discards one of dummy's clubs on the fourth heart. West wins the heart trick, but South can take the top clubs and ruff his last club in dummy.

DINING OUT AND INNS

Brickwork Seems To Lend New Prestige To Many Restaurants

There is something about brickwork, inside or outside, that gives a restaurant a certain style and authority. It has been used a numer of times in remodeling in Marin, and I believe always to the restaurant's advantage.

Bill Bisson and Adolph Motta used just enough of it outside in remodeling the old West End Villa to make it interesting. They were careful to keep the general lines and upper story of the building intact, however, to preserve its historical connotations.

Inside they took many more liberties. The interior bears no resemblance whatever to what it was in the old days when it was successively owned by the late Pete Ostaggi, the Franchinis and the late Dave Marowitz.

This is not to say that the old West End Villa was lacking in popularity. But once you start remodeling and have to bring everything up to current building code requirements, you might as well go the whole way.

It's altogether a different restaurant today and if you're inclined to be a bit nostalgic about the earlier years, forget it. This place needed to be completely changed and Bill and Adolph did it.

The food is consistently good here and so is the service. It's no longer a simple little Italian restaurant, but you can invite your most discriminating friends for lunch and dinner here and you'll know they will enjoy it.

AND IT OCCURS TO ME, speaking of brickwork, that two places considerably improved by its use were both projects of Hector Rubini. The first was his Rubini's in Fairfax, which he later sold. Remember when it was Alpine Villa?

And the original San Rafael Joe's was something less imposing than the present version remade from the Brick Lodge a few doors west and subsequently remodeled and enlarged, using still more brick.

THERE'S ALSO a big difference in store for what for many years was Corey's restaurant on downtown Fourth Street, San Rafael — and what will be the new Romulus when all work is completed.

If you have passed by here lately you must have noticed the new brick facade which does all kinds of things for the appearance.

Incidentally, workmen are laboring daily inside to finsih up the dining room and kitchen remodeling. If the latter can be completed in time, new owner Salvatore Iachino plans to open Aug. 5 with his new Italian menu.

NEW OWNERS will take over the operation of the Griddle at Fourth Street and Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael on Thursday.

These are Carl and Regina Brown of Corte Madera, who have purchased from Zaharias Michopoulos and Jimmy Karkakas. They will continue the business under the same name.

Mrs. Brown will manage the restaurant during the daytime. Carl, whose time is taken up between his work for the telephone company and his responsibilities at the Corte Madera Recreation Center and Lion's Club, will come in evenings and on weekends.

Menu is not expected to be changed materially for the time being.

GRAND OPENING FESTIVITIES on Saturday, Aug. 3, are planned for The Highwayman. It is a new room added to Don Johnson's continually expanding English pub and restaurant. The London Arms in San Anselmo. If he keeps extending along the Miracle Mile he'll soon straddle the San Anselmo-San Rafael line.

There will be a buffet and various opening night activities, including a group of Scotch pipers in full regalia. Named after Alfred Noyes' famous poem, the new room is practically self-contained and will seat 60 persons. It has its own beer kegs in the wall, its own dart-boards and a typical barmaid to go with the atmosphere.

It will be used for overflow crowds, which means you will most certainly find it fully occupied on Friday nights. The Highwayman will be available for private parties during the less busy periods.

RESTAURATEURS Bob Moher and Johnny Johnson, who own Booby's at 3741 Redwood Highway, San Rafael, have been in business here less than a year and they are ready to expand.

It's a long jump to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where they may eventually end up with a nationwide chain— but they are taking a sizeable step and opening a new place in the heart of downtown Modesto in another six or eight weeks. It will be called Booby's, of course.

They have Bob Swasey to look after things here.

NEW FOLKSINGING GROUP entertaining during the 2 a.m. breakfast shows Saturday and Sunday mornings at the Lion's Share in Sausalito is called Michael and Friends.

Marvin Gardens is on the program tomorrow night and Sunday, and folksinger Michael Hunt will make a special appearance.

JEFF HIRAM, billed as "The Hawaiian Beach Boy," is the new musical attraction at Ben Farlatti's Tiburon Lodge.

Appearing Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights from 7 p.m., Jeff accompanies himself on the guitar and sings the traditional and novelty songs of the islands.

ASK THE AVERAGE HOUSEWIFE to name the most indispensible tool in her kitchen and she may point to anything from a high-speed blender to a butcherboard cutting block.

Ask the same question of say Glenn Eng in San Rafael, Jim Louie at Travelers Inn, Lom Hin at Lin Fa Gardens, Al and Joe Louie at Quan Lin of Marin, Stanley Toy at Kublai Khan, Jimmie Lee at the Peacock, Johnny Kan at Tiburon Tommie's or Ron Chang at the Jade Kitchen and the answer will be the same in each case — the wok.

The last time you enjoyed moo goo gai pien, sweet and sour pineapple pork or maybe even bird's nest soup at one of these fine Chinese restaurants, you can almost be certain it was prepared on a wok.

Also known as kuo-tse, this is an purpose Chinese cooking pan resembling a salad bowl. It comes in various sizes and is usually made of iron, aluminum or copper. The Chinese use woks for everything from stir-frying to braising, stewing or deep-frying. Entire multi-course meals can be cooked on two woks.

The design of the wok for centuries has offered the Chinese cook many advantages. Its shape makes it easy to clean, since it has no corners in which food can stick. Its rounded bottom permits a high flame to lick the whole underside surface to assure quick cooking. Less cooking time not only preserves the natural flavors and colors usually found in Chinese foods but — more important to the Chinese — reduces fuel consumption. In China, this means less time chopping wood or searching for dried twigs.

Today's modern Chinese-style gas ranges are specially designed to accommodate woks according to each restaurant's size and needs. The smallest has one or two burners, each producing as much heat as a home furnace. Larger models may have water-cooled stainless counters and dozens of cooking surfaces and wells into which the woks fit.

But these ranges are not used exclusively for Chinese food. You'll find stew, beans, Polynesian and other fare getting wok treatment. Specially made woks for home gas ranges can be found in Chinese stores.

NEW CHEF at the Fleur de France, San Rfaael, recently taken over by Howard Cadwell, is Milton Judd from San Francisco, where he has cooked for Fireman's Fund's large food operation. He has also cooked for some of the airlines.

SAVED A LIFE

Medal To Telephone Operator

A San Rafael telephone operator, whose calm and immediate action saved the life of an 18-month-old child, last night received the Bell System's bronze Vail medal for distinguished public service.

Jane Martin, of 8 Marin Court, received the award, which includes a check for $250, at dinner ceremonies at the San Geronimo Country Club from Fritz G. Boege, Pacific Telephone Bay Area assistant vice president-personnel.

Miss Martin was cited for her handling of an emergency call which was credited by a Marin woman with saving the life of her son.

While on duty at her switchboard last November, Miss Martin received a call from the mother who said that her child had stopped breathing. Miss Martin, a qualified Red Cross water safety instructor, told the woman how to apply mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

While the mother was breathing life back into the little boy, the operator used a separate line to call an ambulance. She continued to talk with the customer, keeping her calm until the ambulance arrived.

The award, made in the name of Theodore N. Vail, first president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., is a Bell System tribute to telephone employees who perform outstanding service.

Nakayoshi Club Sets Japan Fete

"Japan Weekend in Marin," the fourth annual summer festival of the Marin Nakayoshi (friendship) Club, will be held at the American Legion Hall, 469 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, Aug. 3 and 4, chairman Takeshi Velasco has announced.

Hours will be 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. Aug. 3 and noon to 10 p.m Aug. 4. No admission will be charged.

There will be cultural displays such as Bonsai (trees), Ningyo (dolls), and Ikebana (flower arrangement); handicrafts, games, and an assortment of Japanese foods, including sushi, udon, Japanese barbecue meat sticks, and a chicken teriyaki dinner.

Quentin Killer Guilty, Curses Court, Jurors

San Quentin killer Leo Estrada Robles yesterday was convicted of murder by a Marin Superior Court jury, then after a free-wheeling cursing scene was permitted to withdraw a pending plea of innocent by reason of insanity.

The withdrawal means the jury will return at 10 a.m. Tuesday to begin the penalty phase of the trial, rather than the sanity phase. The conviction carries the alternative sentences of life in prison or death.

The jury after six hours deliberation found Robles guilty of murdering fellow inmate Forrest W. Smith, 42, on Nov. 6, and guilty of assault by a life prisoner on another inmate, the same attack.

Judge Harold J. Haley then ordered the jury polled, court officials said, and was dismissing them until the Tuesday penalty phase when Robles began cursing his attorneys, Roger P. Garety and Howard K. Morehouse, the judge, and the jury.

The jury left, court officials said, and Garety informed the court that Robles, 23, wished to withdraw his insanity plea. A 40-minute session between Judge Haley, the attorneys and Robles followed in the judge's chambers, then all returned to the court and the request was granted about 6:30 p.m.

Garety indicated to the judge that he has had conflicts with Robles, and perhaps should be relieved of further representing Robles. Judge Haley scheduled a conference this morning in chambers to consider this. Assistant Dist. Atty. Leonard Shaw has been prosecuting attorney.

Smith, a forger and burglar, was found dead with this throat slashed and head battered in the prison's psychiatric ward. Robles, already serving a life term for the hanging murder of his Santa Clara County jail cellmate in 1965 and for assault with intent to commit murder the same month, admitted during the present trial that he killed Smith.

Oakland Police Can Use Mace; Can't Join Union

OAKLAND (UPI) — Oakland City Council gave policemen the right to use chemical Mace Thursday, but told them they couldn't join a union.

Both actions involving the police department were made unanimously.

The council lifted a six-week ban on the use of Mace, imposed June 11 because of contentions the chemical spray could cause permanent eye damage to those hit at close range.

However, the council decided the effects of Mace were less severe than those of a billy club, which Mayor John Reading said was the alternative in trying to control unruly crowds.

The prohibition on forming or joining a union was imposed one day after the Oakland Police Officers Association authorized its executive board to investigate affiliation with Laborers Local 261. The police group voiced dissatisfaction with current wages.

Panther Warns Of Civil War

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver says many whites have become aware of racist problems because they have had "their heads whipped." The reference was to disturbances.

Cleaver, 33, undismayed by the constitutional requirement of age 35, declared that he is a candidate for president of the United States.

Cleaver, an ex-convict and author of the book, "Soul on Ice," told a San Frncisco rally yesterday that America faces a civil war if Huey Newton is convicted.

Professor Back At UC San Diego

SAN DEIGO (AP) — Philosophy professor Herbert Marcuse says he's through hiding and won't be frightened away again from his teaching position at the University of California at San Diego.

Marcuse, 70, who decribes himself as a marxist, returned to his campus office yesterday for the first time since July 1 when he disappeared after receiving a note calling him a "very dirty Communist dog" and giving him 72 hours to leave the country or face death.

Marcuse, who has been called a "false prophet" in Soviet publications, told a Los Angeles Times reporter he was leaving the country Friday to keep speaking engagements but that he would be back in September.

Prisoners Raise Ruckus In Bus

CHINO (AP) — A handful of convicts are awaiting disciplinary action at Chino State Prison after trying to overturn a bus shuttling them to Chino from Tehachapi State Prison.

The men, among 41 prisoners on the bus, were in a group of 17 on the first stage of transfers to Folsom and San Quentin Prisons as "troublemakers," authorities said. A group of them began rocking the bus shortly after it left Tehachapi yesterday.

Among the prisoners on the bus was Dr. Bernard Finch, who was convicted along with Carole Tregoff for the 1961 shooting death of his socialite wife, Barbara Jean. Officers said he took no part in the disturbance.

Youth Denies Golden Gate Police Murder

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— A Negro youth yesterday pleaded innocent to charges of killing a policeman in Golden Gate Park.

In a tense courtroom filled by a Negro group called the concerned Brothers of Hunters point, Edgar Allen, 19, entered his plea, which set the stage for an Aug. 9 trial.

Outside the courtroom leaflets were distributed calling for "Every black person with a black heart to show the pigs that we care about our brothers."

Allen and Donal Ray Caldwell, 20, were arrested shortly after the shooting of Patrolman Peter McElligott June 19.

The two men were indicted by the grand jury on charges of murder, robbery and auto theft. Caldwell is being held in a prison hospital because of serious gunshot wounds received in a shootout with police prior to his arrest.

Microphone Taken

A microphone valued at $60 was stolen from Catania Sound, 857 Fourth Street, San Rafael, yesterday morning. An employee told San Rafael police he saw a boy, about 13 years old, take the microphone and run out of the store with it, but could not catch him.

Is Johnson Seeking To Perpetuate His Rule?

When George Washington, refusing nomination for a third term, left the presidency in 1797, he retired to his Mount Vernon acres and played no further part in governing the United States.

Washington thereby established two long-enduring precedents: against a third term for a President and against a former chief executive's attempting to keep a hand on the controls of the Ship of State after being replaced as its captain.

The first endured until the administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt, and was re-instituted as a matter of law by addition of the 22nd Amendment to the Constitution, which says: "No person shall be elected to the office of President more than twice, and no person who has held the office of President, or acted as President, for more than two years of a term to which some other person was elected President shall be elected to the office of President more than once."

THE SECOND PRECEDENT, that a president shall not continue to exercise influence on government after being replaced, has endured pretty much to this day. But there are signs that it may be on the way out — perhaps deemed old-fashioned by today's politicos, as was the "no third term" tradition by the Roosevelts.

There is merit in a President's attempting to draw on the wisdom gained in office by a predecessor. Few have done it to any extent, however, until Lyndon B. Johnson made a habit of conferring with Dwight D. Eisenhower. To what extent Eisenhower has influenced Johnson, none but the two of them knows, but the former President has on occasion given public approval to Johnson's policies.

IT APPEARS, however, that Johnson may have a more important "elder statesman" role in mind for himself—particularly if the man he has chosen, Hubert H. Humphrey, replaces him in the White House.

A hint of this is contained in a recent news item that among Johnson's plans for retirement is organization of a task force "to modernize and improve the office of the presidency."

There are those who insist that Humphrey is "his own man" and will not be bound by the policies of the Johnson administration. But Humphrey is part of that organization. And he is so because Johnson chose him as running mate at the 1964 convention. And it is notable that Humphrey did not announce for the presidency until he received the "go-ahead" from his chief.

THE FRAMERS of the Constitution were deeply concerned with the possibility of a self-perpetuating federal regime. They strove hard to guard against it. They set up what they thought was a system to prevent passing the presidency on to a successor chosen by the incumbent, but it was negated by emergence of the party system. Nevertheless, only once since the party system appeared has a President succeeded in passing on the sceptre to his vice president: when Andrew Jackson delivered it to Martin Van Buren in 1836.

Regardless of how much he is "his own man," Hubert Humphrey cannot repudiate, as President, policies which he has consistently and publicly endorsed as vice president. And some of those very policies are what have brought the present administration into the disrepute that made Lyndon Johnson decide against seeking another term.

Delegates to the Democratic National Convention in Chicago next month would do well to bear that in mind.

Quail In Distress

Marin's quail are reputed to have a vocabulary of about 30 calls, a figure we do not doubt. Although our understanding of "quail" is quite limited, in common with countless other Marinites, we are familiar with the call made by the male quail, warning the chicks that they are in danger.

This call — a stacatto, monotone trilling — may continue for half an hour or longer. It has a quality of insistent urgency about it which defies ignoring.

The trilling continues until the father quail considers the danger past. During this time, the quail chicks usually remain frozen in one position.

Property Tax Relief Bill Dead But Substitute May Pass

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Demise of AB 149, by Assemblyman John G. Veneman, R-Modesto, the $155 million property tax relief bill killed in the state Senate, will have but little effect on the general tax-paying public, means that unless the legislature comes up with another relief plan by Sept. 30, the sales tax will drop from five to four and a half cents.

And this, according to Sen. George Miller, D-Martinez, who led the battle against the Republican administration sponsored property tax relief plan, is as it should be. Miller contended the plan was a hoax on the people of the state. He argued that tax relief should apply to everyone, not property owners alone, which would be accomplished by dropping the sales tax a half cent.

The California County Supervisors Association, which is a powerful factor in state politics, gave hearty support to AB 149. Loss of the bill affects the counties materially, as the entire $155 million in tax relief funds was to have been subvented to counties.

Consequently, the supervisors association is looking for other means of effectuating lower property taxes, so although the Veneman bill is dead, the issue is far from forgotten.

The association hopes to revive AB 1590, by Assemblyman Eugene Chappie, R-Cool, which would provide some property tax relief in another way. It would give counties more state subsidy for welfare purposes.

However, this measure, containing the same $155 million in AB 149, is in the Senate committee on finance, the same committee which held AB 149 for some weeks. Whether it can get out of this committee and through the senate on 27 votes is a question.

The Chappie measure, however, has the support of the California Taxpayers Association, which AB 149 did not have. This added support could be a factor, even at this late date in the legislative session.

THE CYNIC'S CORNER By Interlandi

"How come nature didn't let men and governments in on her plan?"

"... My fellow Republicans! ... The next President of the United States! ... Ronald Recall"

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Recall Reagan Advocates Blind

Occasionally, you publish a letter that borders on the classic. I refer to Katherine Bender's letter published 22 July. . . .

She takes great pain to deny the connection of the "recall Reagan" movement with Berkeley. I cannot but agree — I think perhaps the Berkeley establishment (yes, they do have one) has much too much sense to sponsor this sort of thing. The recall movement has been started and nurtured by mindless dissidents who honestly have no idea why Reagan should be removed from office, except for their own blind, hysterical hatred of the man. Such is incomprehensible, especially since they offer no alternative whatever. They just want him out and the consequences be damned. . . .

It is time for "sister" Bender (and her dissident friends) to awake to the fact that Governor Reagan is doing only and exactly what he promised, which is quite a switch when one remembers other "campaign promises." The governor has brought honest, realistic government, trying (in spite of Unruh and his ilk) to keep that government within the bounds of the budget which, constitutionally, must be balanced.

Too bad Miss Bender is so unbending. Otherwise she just might be able to see the wisdom of what Governor Reagan's administration is trying to accomplish — honesty in government.

Selective Conscience Of Draft Resisters

Most present-day conscientious objectors, draft resisters, and their supporters do not believe in conscience per se. They reject the validity of the consciences of all men who do not agree with them. They think only their conscience is the voice of God.

They would not kill? However they are responsible and guilty of others being killed because they would not go their defense. The Bible only teaches that individuals are not to kill on their own initiative alone. When John the Baptist was asked by soldiers, "What shall we do?" he did not tell them not to kill, or to resign from the army. These objectors demand that the authorities accept the dictates of their conscience, while they reject the dictates of the conscience of those in lawful authority. . . .

The ministers who sponsored the services at the two Presbyterian churches sought to defeat the government. However, they really aided by rounding up these servicemen so they could conveniently be picked up.

Some of these ministers say that they also support the willing servicemen. Let them now prove it by entertaining a group of them. They must do it, and soon, if they expect the public to believe they are telling the truth and not a lie.

Marin City Stories Draw Appreciation

Many thanks for the excellent coverage you have given the building of the Marin City playground by volunteers. Although we still need more funds and volunteer workers, the success to date of this community project is largely due to the pictures and stories in your paper.

Both the Community Services District, which administers the playground, and the Maringate Nursery School join us in expressing gratitude for your helpful newsprint.

We at St. Andrew also appreciate your sympathetic coverage of the events in our building Wednesday moring were nine young men were arrested for their conscientious stand against U.S. foreign policy by resigning from the armed services.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

July 26, 1958

Thirty-five Point Reyes ranchers, representing nearly 40,000 acres of dairy and beef cattle land, protested plans for a federal park on Point Reyes peninsula.

A major shopping center, including a $350,000 Safeway Stores supermarket, was planned for development on a 13-acre site at Diablo Avenue and Highway 101, Novato.

20 YEARS AGO

July 26, 1948

Boy Scouts at Fairfax's Camp Lilienthal took life saving lessons from Rin Tin Tin III, third generation movie idol.

Ilite Foods of San Rafael advertised butter at 88 cents a pound, watermelons at 2 cents a pound and sliced bacon at 29 cents a pound.

Park Department Preserves Past

In reference to the log cabin at Boyd Park, as described in last week's I-J, may I add some additional information?

As a sentimental native of Marin, it was of great pleasure to me to be given permission to find a suitable location for the cabin and to be allowed to supervise its reconstruction. With the assistance of the park crew and the enthusiastic help of the current Youth Corps workers, we numbered the logs and all helped to engineer the project. A new roof was installed and a glassless picture window cut out for a view "in and out."

The spirit of preserving old Marin is ever present in we old timers. The flagpole from the old city hall is now in use at Santa Margarita Park. The same razing gave us two stately Irish yews which are used as specimen planting at this park. We also rescued two picturesque arbutus trees which now enhance the dressing rooms there.

From Mrs. Fiske's former home on Fifth Street we salvaged the grand old porch pillars and encompassed them into the design of a large arbor at Albert Park. Sun Valley Park has been beautified by the planting of many shrubs from the garden of the old American Legion Hall. The pricelss grilled iron fencing that once graced the corner of Fifth and C streets now serves as a perimeter fencing for a play area at Victor Jones Park. I think Vic would have liked that.

I, for one, am grateful that my superiors have the vision to allow us to find ways to perpetuate these mementoes of the past.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

FRED ALLEN liked to tell about the movie star who became convinced he was a banana. His psychiatrist found that he had a split personality. He was the first banana split screen hero on record. . . . Fred's menagerie of weird acquaintances also included a harmless fellow who had lived in a cannon for 30 years. He was always hoping to be a big shot, but he never quite made it.

MAX ASNAS, owner of Broadway's Stage Door Delicatessen, is a kindly man and many is the moocher he has staked to a free meal. One night a particularly bedraggled derelict appeared upon the scene and was promised a hand-out as soon as a big crowd of paying customers had been served. This took longer than the derelict thought it should, so he angrily accosted Mr. Asnas and cried, "Hey, I've been waiting for that meal you promised me now for a full 20 minutes. How much longer will I be ignored?" Mr. Asnas answered, "What's the matter, you bum? Are you double parked?"

MARQUIS CHILDS

Governors Sniff Political Wind And Scent Nixon Victory

CINCINNATI — A governor's life is not a happy one. The prerequisites that go with the office — a free house, a limousine and chauffeur, the use of a National Guard plane — are small recompense for the ever-increasing pressure for more and better services, which in turn means higher taxes that in turn mean a struggle with the Legilature and the stored hostility of the voter.

Once a year the governors meet in annual conference to exchange griefs and test the political climate. This takes on special significance in a presidential year, as here in Cincinnati on the eve of the two national nominating conventions.

What is striking this time is the extreme caution with which both Republican and Democratic governors hold their fingers up to the wind. They are trying in an unpredictable year to answer the questions with a lot of talk as meaningless as the gas in a campaign balloon.

TWO REPUBLICAN candidates have been offering their wares here. Ronald Reagan of California and Nelson Rockefeller of New York, heading the two most populous states in the Union, have been politicking with their scouts in a dozen smoke-filled rooms.

Yet the impression is that they have made little, if any, dent in the massive delegate phalanx put together by Richard M. Nixon. For the governors that is the galling irony. Here is Nixon, without an administrative care in the world, sustained by a lucrative big-business law firm and with members of that firm serving as his principal political lieutenants, sailing blithely toward the finish line. In private most Republicans agree that Nixon probably has the 667 delegates for the first-ballot nomination at Miami Beach he claims.

Rockefeller has been darting in and out in his private executive jet, wooing delegates in distant parts between sessions of the conference he feels obliged to attend. His fellow governors speak with respect and even awe of the Rockefeller blitz. Knowing so well the cost of campaigning in television time and newspaper ads, they are fascinated by the outpouring of wealth this blitz has meant. The conservative estimate from the Rockefeller camp is $3 million. The experienced appraisers put it at $5 million and perhaps as high as $7,500,000 if all the costs are included. It is, of course, beyond the reach of anyone except a Rockefeller with a Rockefeller's family and business connections.

AS FOR REAGAN he is written off except for the kind of political miracle that just doesn't happen. Sure, say the Republicans from the big-city states, he could deny votes to George Wallace in the South and carry possibly more southern states than Nixon. But with us he would be the kiss of death, and it is in the big-city states that presidential elections are won.

Furthermore, Reagan is in trouble in California. The California Poll among Republicans on choice for the nomination showed Nixon with 48 per cent, Rockefeller 34 and Reagan 11. Petitions to recall the governor, requiring him to stand again for election, have been filed with apparently the required 800,000 signatures. While the signatures have not been validated the very fact that this assault under California's law for referendum and recall has got so far on the eve of the Republican convention is a black mark.

If the hero of screen and television — all those B pictures on the late, late show — has a cloudy future in his home state he could conceivably be ready for a deal on the national scene. When the awful truth sinks in, whether before the convention or just as it starts in Miami Beach, he might be prepared to trade California's delegates to Nixon for promise of a national office that would lift the load of the governorship. This would insure a Nixon first-ballot nomination beyond any question.

Whether the governor's office, so far removed from the issues of war and peace, will ever again be an anteroom to the presidency is a valid question. George Romney of Michigan, a first-rate governor, fumbled over Vietnam and killed what were excellent chances. The record of recent years is strewn with wrecks and failures that haunt the governors.

Most Senators Ready To Call Yanks Home

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Administration agents, preparing for a session's end Senate battle over withdrawing U. S. troops from Europe, are maneuvering to block any pullback and avoid a new rebuff for President Johnson's beleaguered foreign policy.

The showdown is scheduled on a withdrawal proposal by Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a member of both the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations committees. He wants to require return of all but one division from the U. S. NATO force, which presently includes the equivalent of six divisions.

Symington intends to offer his plan as an amendment to the defense appropriation bill, and early nose-counts indicate that the final outcome is in doubt. What is certain is that more than half of the Senate would like to vote for a substantial troop reduction.

More than half of the 100 senators are already committed to a separate Senate resolution urging that a "substantial" troop reduction be made. That resolution is authored by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and has broad bipartisan support.

AGAINST THAT imposing show of strength the administration has been pressing a quiet campaign of persuasion. Harlan Cleveland, U. S. ambassador to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, began the missionary work with senators when he visited here several weeks ago. More recently George C. McGhee, now ambassador at large and recently returned from Germany, has been pressing the administration's case against withdrawal. Defense Secretary Clark Clifford is reported to have strongly opposed any withdrawal in talks with senators.

More than 300,000 U. S. troops are stationed in Europe, and their dependents raise the total U. S. contingent to about 600,000. Symington's proposal would deny funds for supporting more than 50,000 troops after next Dec. 31.

WHILE SYMINGTON is billed as the leader of the present drive for troop reductions, it is Mansfield who has pressed the issue over the years. More than two years ago he got the Senate Democratic Policy Committee to approve his resolution stating the view of the Senate that troops should be removed.

While Mansfield's resolution mentions no specific numbers, he and some of his co-sponsors have often spoken of leaving a two-division force to show NATO allies that the United States is committed to European defense. Another modification, presently under discussion, would specify 50,000 ground troops and allow for additional air units.

Even if Symington's proposal loses, the net result could be a new rebuke for the administration and its handling of foreign affairs.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

Why Keep Laws On Books If They're Not To Be Enforced?

To whom do the laws apply? Who has the right or responsibility to violate these laws and under what circumstances?

Questioning of the application of and adherence to the law has precipitated some of the more emotional arguments in many families.

In Sausalito this week, the dispute which is dividing segments of society was capsulized in a few brief statements by city councilmen and persons in the audience on the application of a proposed jaywalking ordinance.

Jaywalking is bad, all agreed, but to what extent should the law prohibiting such an act be applied — on Bridgeway, Bridgeway and Caledonia street, the downtown area, or in the entire city?

Arguments for application in the downtown area only were logical ones: Hillside blocks are long and residents would have to walk as much as two city blocks to cross from a home to a car parked directly across the street.

"SENSIBLE, YES, but . . ." commented one respected longtime resident. Better to establish the law over the entire city and then just not enforce it in those areas where it is impractical, he said. It will then be on the books in case we ever need it, he continued.

Other city laws have been on the books for years but have never been enforced by the police, he noted. One in point is the ordinance prohibiting overnight parking in residential areas. With Sausalito's critical parking problem, the archaic law would make life nearly impossible for residents and thus has not been enforced.

Another such law is one of Sausalito's which prohibits persons blocking the city's steps by sitting, lounging or lying on them — a good law passed for a good reason but unenforceable because the courts hesitate to jail persons for step-sitting. Does the law stay or go?

The fallacy in our respected citizen's arguments is obvious and almost needs no comment. But, sometimes it is important to restate the obvious, especially when it seems to have become so obvious as to be often overlooked.

Who can argue with the logic of not enforcing a bad law or an unnecessary one?

Yet, flash back to any recent argument over marijuana laws. In any anonymous average family the argument runs something like this: Marijuana isn't harmful and everyone uses it so why can't I? asks youngster. Because it's illegal and as long as it's illegal you can't use it, says parent.

The same argument has been used concerning civil rights demonstrations.

Often those who would support the Sausalito resident's position on jaywalking are the same who yell the loudest about the breakdown of law and order in our society.

To me the answer is patently simple: Don't promulgate unnecessary, useless or unwise laws — and the breakdown in law and order in our society will halt take care of itself.

PASSING NOTE: SAM, better known as the Sausalito Artists and Merchants Association, the town's biggest booster, has given birth to another artistic poster of the Sausalito scene. Others produced in the past have been popular and this one is particularly handsome in bright colors, produced by Graphic Arts of Sausalito, outlining a design by Mill Valley artist Carole Taylor.

ART BUCHWALD

Everything Lovely In Moscow— But Tip The Waiter In Advance

MOSCOW — I haven't visited the Soviet Union in 10 years, but I am happy to report it is still a workers' paradise, and the envy of anyone who is caught up in the rat race of the western world.

While the West is struggling with its almost insurmountable problems, the Soviets are living in an aura of stability and progress where every day is like the next and one doesn't have to worry about any surprises.

It was my Russian friend, Dimitri, whom I hadn't seen in 10 years, who made me realize how far behind the United States was, compared to the Soviet Union.

AT LUNCH he chortled, "I told you the United States would demand to be more like us."

"What on earth do you mean, Dimitri?"

"All your American politicians are screaming for law and order. There is no country in the world that has more law and order than the Soviet Union."

"That's true," I had to admit. "Everyone wants a stronger police force in the United States."

"Forgive me for boasting, but we have more police per capita than anyone. Not only will you find a uniformed policeman on every block, but there are thousands walking around in civilian clothes and no one knows who they are. It's impossible to be mugged in Moscow."

"HOW ARE YOU fixed on student demonstrations?" I asked.

"We have none unless they're organized by the government, and we have no draft card burners or agitators, either."

"This is George Wallace's kind of country," I said.

"When our government officials speak you don't find anyone picketing them."

"It must be wonderful to live in a land without pickets," I told Dimitri.

"And we don't have strikes."

"American workers never seem to be satisfied," I said. "How do you keep the workers from striking?"

"The government decides what they should be paid, and the workers agree."

"That certainly is better than collective bargaining."

DIMITRI SAID, "We also have better newspapers than you do. Your newspapers are always criticizing the government and that makes the people unhappy. Our newspapers never criticize the government, so the Soviet people never fret."

"But suppose, heaven forbid," I said, "the government makes a mistake. Who points it out?"

"The government. Otherwise it's not a mistake."

"I hate to bring this up, Dimitri, but we've been sitting here for hours and we haven't had any lunch. Is there something wrong?"

"Of course not. Under the Communist system there is no class discrimination in the Soviet Union. A waiter in this country has the same rights as all other citizens, and he is permitted to eat his lunch when we eat ours."

"I see. Then he'll serve us after he's finished?"

"NOT NECESSARILY. Since we've done away with the decadent capitalistic system of tipping, a waiter doesn't have to serve us if he doesn't want to. All a Soviet waiter is obliged to do is serve the state."

"Then how does one get something to eat?"

"You tip the waiter before the meal starts," Dimitri said.

"Well, why didn't we do that?"

"I didn't want you to think that was the only way you could get lunch in my country."

Mailliard Schedules Three Noon Talks

Mailliard, as previously reported, will make a fourth talk before the Marvelous Marin Breakfast Club at 7:30 a.m. Aug. 8 at the Elks Club in San Rafael.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Administrator's Role In Marin Likened To That Of Commisar

Fusselman

It's not a healthy thing, trying to plow in a form of county government in which the concept is so different than that of a general law constituted county such as Marin.

This grand manner I speak of so often is primarily caused, I believe, by the illusion that the office of Marin County supervisor is akin to that of a United States congressman or senator, and a California assemblyman or senator.

It is not. They fall down in their mimicry. For instance they don't even operate as the national and state bodies do. Where are the standing committees of supervisors? Where are the special committees of supervisors to take up important new matters?

The members of these greater units of government work at things themselves. They know personally and intimately what the score is.

IN JANUARY of '65 I quoted from an identical story which appeared in two weekly county papers, in which the county administrator was likened to Lazarus and had "emerged as the most powerful figure in county government and not the least of his prerogatives is the $5,000 raise in pay he received in 1964."

I said then and I repeat: "There is great danger in the proposition of a most powerful figure in county government."

In 1958, 60 per cent of those voting turned down a charter which would have made the administrator just that. About the same time, Walter Lippmann said that 60 per cent to 75 per cent was a consensus of public opinion as contrasted with 51 per cent majority.

LED BY BEHR (Supervisor Peter H.), there has been a complete refusal to permit the voters to vote on this type of operation again. So here is what "the most powerful figure in county government" is now being permitted, by abdication of the board, to do.

He has set up a commisar sort of operation, to ride herd on 34 elected and state-required appointive public officers, including the courts, the law enforcement and legal departments. He even tried to abolish the law-required West Marin Justice Court this year, by refusing to put anything in the budget for its operation, but the supervisors became so alarmed, finally, at this one of his "command" post strategies, that they put up the stop sign. To assuage his bruised feelings, they gave him another raise to within $44 of $26,000 a year. This is more than the superior court judges receive ($25,000). And today I heard from Sacramento sources that the governor of our state receives only some $18,000 more a year than Bruce is getting.

KNOWING the background of experience, as I do, of John Barrows and Tom Campanella, its's a mind boggler to read the list of departmental assignments Bruce has given them.

Barrows — Public works, planning, parks and recreation, sheriff, fire, library, data processing, clerk of the board, assessment appeals board, Local Agency Formation Commission, capital improvements, county-city services committee, space allocations, vehicle assignments, retirement board economic development, Civic Center comittee.

Campanella — Public social service, probation, mental health, county schools assessor, treasurer, tax collector, auditor-controller, Neighborhood Youth Corps, pound, communications, district attorney, municipal court, superior court, public defender, county clerk, auditorium, Fair-Marin, insurance, Economic Opportunity Council, hospitals, senior citizens, Housing Authority Redevelopment Agency.

Now you tell one.

Cemetery Need

JERUSALEM (AP) — The Jerusalem Cemeteries Council has asked the Government for $2.25 million to restore the Jewish Cemetery on the Mount of Olives in East Jerusalem with 50,000 new tombstones and walls.

Outlaw Cyclist In Tears Over Prison Term

TITUSVILLE, Fla. (AP) — When the hands of a teen-age girl were nailed to an oak tree in the ritual punishment ceremony of a motorcycle club, she did not cry. Thursday the man who admitted driving the nails sobbed when he was sentenced to four years in prison.

James (Spider) Owings, 26, of Port Arthur, Tex., also known under his alias of Norman Risinger, admitted he used a hammer to nail the hands of Christine Deese to the tree.

Owings got four years in prison, one under the maximum for aggravated assault and one year more than was recommended by the prosecution.

Frank (Fat Frank) Link Jr. of Houston, Tex., got two years, Joe (Super Squirrel) Sorsby Jr. of Cypress, Calif., was given one year in prison, and John (Crazy John) Wables of Warren, Mich., was credited with eight months served and sent home.

Marin Women

A-Cycling On Angel With 'Mrs. T.'

By BETTY FROST

As soon as bicyling was permitted on Angel Island, a group of cyclists led by the indomitable Mrs. Calvin K. Terwilliger of Mill Valley could hardly wait to try the roadways.

So Monday morning 25 bikes were loaded on the launch at the Tiburon dock. A motely group of adventurers assembled on the misty wharf. Most were mature women with half a dozen children prepared to pedal their own bikes, one hitch-hiker, a four year old boy who had a small seat on the back of his mother's bike, and one pedestrian.

The boat ride from Tiburon to Ayala, formerly Hospital Cove, ended with an orderly unloading of the two wheelers. Elizabeth Terwilliger, neatly dressed in jeans, sneakers, a windbreaker and a jaunty straw hat decorated with feathers, stopped at the command post that is the administration building for maps and an exchange of greetings with John A. W. Biggio, Angel Island park superintendent.

WHILE THE SMALL but mighty general of this exploration party pedaled vigorously up the hill cheerfully shouting words of encouragement to her followers, the pedestrian, trying not to look too smug, rode in a truck, with Robert Forrester, seasonal park aide, indicating points of interest along the way.

At the top of Mt. Caroline Livermore an overlay of fog obscured the potentially spectacular view. On the way down the mountain of redwoods, fragrant eucalyptus and pine trees stood out.

All the bikes were parked at the edge of the road near the beginning of the trail to Pearl Beach. All bikers had turned hiker to descend the steep path. The pedestrian mingled with the group. A fresh wind churned up whitecaps near the shore, but nobody seemed to mind the cold.

While adults shared finds of beautiful rocks in purples and greens from the serpentine formation, the children gathered around Mrs. Terwilliger, where the action was.

THEY HAD FOUND gold. They had found a whale bone. They had found an old belaying pin from a mysterious ship. And with "Mrs. T." as the Pied Piper they made more rapturous discoveries — mole crabs, sand crabs, kelp crabs. They learned the difference between boy crabs and girl crabs. Down on her hands and knees surrounded by the children, the small woman found a hump in the sand and lots of tiny holes in the mound. "Who made this tunnel?" she asked, digging through the sand with her fingers extended like the tines of a fork.

Everyone was pretty excited when she turned up some tiny tickly brine shrimp.

"Anybody home?" she asked, rapping on a large piece of driftwood. Fat gray anthropods hopped out. Once again she pulled aside an old board to uncover some of nature's hideaways.

"Did you knock?" asked one little girl.

"Of course," said Mrs. Terwilliger, with dignity.

Walking up the steep trails to the bikes everyone tasted the wild elderberries. Then they debated whether the fragrant yellow elderberry flower was more suitable for seasoning scrambled eggs, as one authority suggested, or if its mild fragrance wouldn't be perfect in the lingerie drawer or linen closet.

BEGINNING WHEN the bicyclists whirred off on the roadway to the south, the pedestrian took the indicated path and went back 80 years, past an old school house with a bell tower, into a fading world of Victorian houses, their Army yellow softened by the weather, and down to the shore where the large brick warehouse, prominent from the water, can be viewed at close hand.

The home of the commandant, its past splendor easily envisaged, had a historical marker recalling a military leader who had lived there in 1884. This is the west garrison, with an unobstructed view through the Golden Gate. And unobstructed westerly winds that probably influenced the decision to move operations to the east garrison in 1909.

But it was up, up, and away when the cyclists arrived. Perhaps for good conduct, the pedestrian received a feather from the leader. The tactful choice was a wing, not a tail feather. Another gift, from a child, the pink hind leg of a very small crab. It all went into the basket with the bit of seaweed that looked like a typewriter ribbon, the eucalyptus pod and the sand verbena blossom.

WHILE THE cyclists rested at the old fort, the pedestrian walked back to Ayala Cove by a quiet trail. A doe and a fawn stood still in the path for long minutes, then leapt gracefully aside as the stranger passed.

The Angel Island launch was crowded with young girls from Kern County on an excursion with a youth group. They were petulant and complained of the cold. Somehow one wished that they, too, could have seen Angel Island with Mrs. Terwilliger.

Dior's Designer Tops Paris Shows With Austere, Democratic Stylings

By JOAN DEPPA

PARIS (UPI) — It was Courreges who shortened skirts and bared bosoms, but it was Christian Dior who produced the most influential fashion collection yet seen in Paris.

Dior's Marc Bohan democratized fashion by asking his wealthy women customers to dress the way most average women have to.

For example, Bohan designed a slim duffle coat of wool and then suggested it should be worn all day long, even over cocktail dresses.

The woman-in-the-street, who often has to settle for one good coat every two years, has been doing that for years out of simple necessity. Bohan made it fashionable.

THE AUSTERE theme was echoed through the collection, which included few spontaneous applause getters, but hundreds of good ideas that will be copied and re-copied in the months to come until nobody remembers they came from Dior in the first place.

Bohan emphasized the bosom gently, the waist gently and kept the hemline at one and a half inches above the knee, but he did it both practically and prettily.

Warm helmets clutched the head, fur pockets warmed the hands. Inexpensive leather shoestring belts marked the waistline with an easy knot.

Jewelry was sparse but always golden, bringing back the idea that it was better to have one or two good pieces no matter how small than gobs and gobs of plastic and throwaway gimmicks.

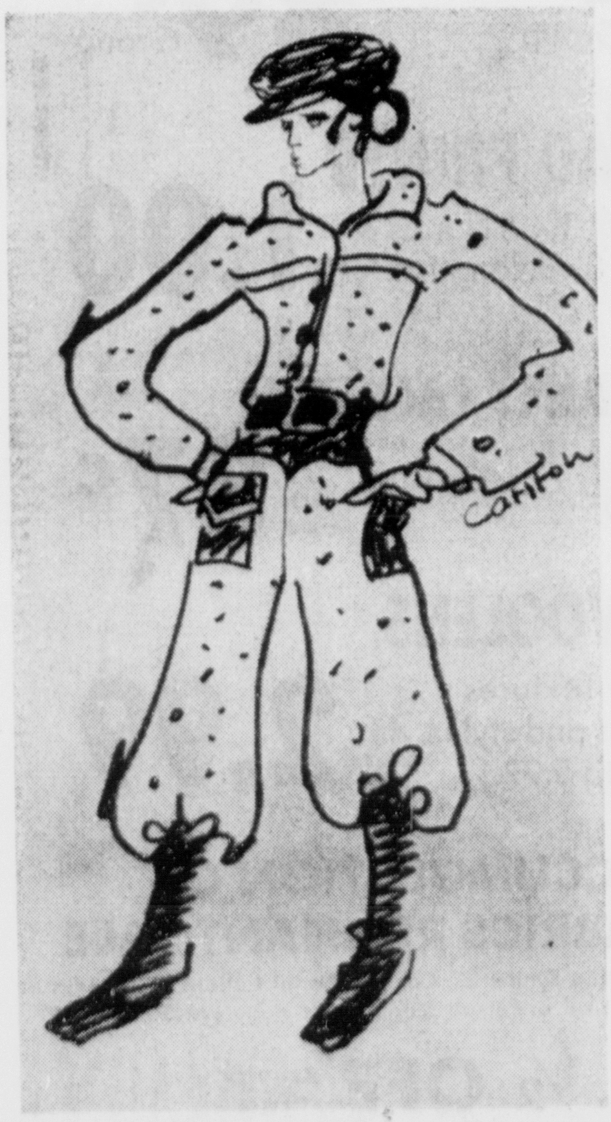
SUITS HAVE NOT been so important in years, and Dior's have jackets that cover the hips. Usually they are teamed with tunic blouses tied or belted at the waist, often with detachable close-fitting hoods.

Skirts are crossover flared or box pleated. The gored skirt has replaced the A-line at Dior as it has at many other houses.

Daytime dresses have belted waistlines with gathered or pleated skirts. After six, the line often outlines the bust with seaming and then falls away into a slim neat line that just skims the body. Often they have round decolletages.

One of the prettiest and most trend-setting cocktail dress was in black velvet with a wide neckline that went clear to the edge of the shoulders.

The sleeves were long, full and gathered to the wrist and the skirt was made full with soft unpressed pleats. A gold tasseled belt was its only real jewelry.



JACQUES HEIM did this tweed jumpsuit, shown here in a sketch by Carlton for his fall and winter high fashion collection shown in Paris this week. The jumpsuit is worn with fox and leather casquette and Russian styled boots. The trousers end in plus-fours tucked into the tops of the boots. (AP Wirephoto)

DESIGNER MARC BOHAN for the House of Christian Dior designed this tweed suit patched with fur for the shoulders and pockets for his fall and winter collection unveiled yesterday in Paris. It is worn with close-fitting tweed cape and scarf. Actress Lauren Bacall and her 15-year-old daughter held up the showing by half an hour by their late arrival. She finally came, wearing a bright red dress trimmed with wide white edging and her hair in a long pageboy style. The teen-ager wore a navy blue pants suit with a demure touch of white at the neckline. (AP Wirephoto)

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

New Hampshire Holds Record For Lowest Marriageable Age

DEAR HELEN:

In your column several years ago I read that somewhere in the United States the legal marriage age, with parents consent, was 12 for girls, 14 for boys. Is this still true, and in what state? — JUST CURIOUS

DEAR JUST:

According to the current World Almanac, New Hampshire has the lowest listed legal age for marriage — 13 for girls, 14 for boys, but this must be not only with parents' but court consent. Several states make special concessions on marriage age upon request by the court. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Plenty has been written about the unwed mother. How about some much-needed advice and comfort for the parents of a girl who "had to get married." I'm so crushed by this that life does not seem worth living.

Our daughter was raised properly by loving parents who were not too strict and not too permissive. We were a family that prayed together and played together as well. We don't know what went wrong, but obviously we failed somewhere.

How do we pick up the pieces and go on, now that this has happened to our daughter? — UNHAPPY MOM

DEAR MOM:

The best way to answer your letter is with another I received recently. Like you, this mother thought at first, "How can I bear the disgrace?" "How can we live with our lost hope of college . . . career . . . a lovely wedding for our daughter?"

But then she caught herself up short.

"Here," she wrote, "we were thinking of ourselves and our disappointments and shame. We were so tied up with self-pity and regrets that we almost forgot a wedding should be happy, if the couple is in love — even if it's a "have-to."

As soon as we left off the blame-placing and concentrated on our daughter, our world righted itself again. We came to see these two as young people who wanted to do the right thing but couldn't face the long wait until college graduation. We saw their disappointments and misery and recognized their courage in facing things together. And so my husband and I resolved there would be no more long faces or red eyes: If these kids wanted each other, we'd show them our love — and our pride in them. And we wouldn't wring our hands over "where we went wrong" or "how it might have been, if only . . ."

I can't say the kids' lives have been all roses, but they're still in love, and so happy with their little girl. Our son-in-law has a job, and is getting his college courses wherever he can. When our grandchild gets a little older, our daughter will work part time to help them both through school. They have long-range ambitions, and they're realizing them together. I like to think that the parents' attitude, on both sides, helped a little. Had we given in to our first reactions, the children might have gone into marriage with a different outlook — one of failure. — HAPPY MOTHER AND GRANDMOTHER

DEAR HELEN:

You asked if any of your readers had received prizes in those "You may have already won . . ." sweepstakes contests, when you check the box marked "No. I don't want the product."

I always mark the "No" box and return. And I've won three different prizes. — LUCKY

DEAR HELEN:

Yes, my lucky number did win, even though did not buy the magazine. I didn't get the "trip around the world," but I got a nice camera. — ANOTHER LUCKY

DEAR HELEN:

I used to think it was just wishful thinking when I returned those "lucky numbers" with the cards marked "No."

In a recent one, you are requested to return your number in "the enclosed stamped envelope." On the back of the envelope are boxes for your "Yes," or "No."

I enclosed a note inside my "No"-marked envelope saying I doubted that it would even be opened, since I wasn't buying the product; and if I received a reply it would prove my suspicions were unfounded.

I received a reply almost immediately, stating the company would send me a list of winners as soon as all numbers had been checked, and it was not necessary to buy in order to win.

Which proves these contests are legit.

P.S. I wasn't among the winners. — WALTER

DEAR HELEN:

I am receiving every book that reaches Number One on the best seller list for one year. This as a prize in a lucky number contest. And I marked the "No" box. — DAVID

Boekelheide-Fuller Marry In Mill Valley

Carol June Fuller and Donald H. Boekelheide were united in marriage Saturday in a noon ceremony at the Mill Valley Community Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Fuller of Mill Valley and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arlyn Boekelheide of Woodland Hills.

Maid of honor was Marsha L. Fraser of Fullerton, and Marilyn Fuller was her sister's bridesmaid. Best man was James L. Wolcott of Woodland Hills. Serving as ushers were Frederick Voss of Lynwood, Dana Carlton and Robert Boekelheide, the bridegroom's brother, of Woodland Hills.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in Enchanted Knolls. After a wedding trip to Carmel the couple will live in Santa Barbara where both are juniors at the University of California at Santa Barbara, Carol majoring in psychology and Donald in sociology.

The bride attended Tamalpais High School two years and was graduated from Fullerton Union High School in Fullerton. She is the sister of Douglas and Scott Fuller of Mill Valley.

The bridegroom is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Boekelheide, who flew from Northville, S.D., for the wedding.

Widen Window With Cloth Trim

To make a narrow window seem wider, use a brightly colored, textured window shade. Then, cover a pair of tall, hinged screens to place on either side of the window with extra yardage of the same shade cloth. For further linear definition, outline shades, screens, and window moldings with contrasting braid.

Quackery Follows Obesity

True or false?

You can melt away extra pounds by wearing special tight plastic blouses and slacks.

You can buy an electrical device for effortless reducing that is a convenient, pleasant, comfortable and relaxing form of exercise resulting in substantial weight and girth reduction.

There are pills that allow you to "lose 54 pounds of ugly, dangerous fat in only three short months" while eating all the spaghetti, malted milks and pizza you want.

False is the answer to each of these questions, according to the American Society of Bariatrics — the association of physicians who specialize in weight reduction.

Americans spend more than $250,000,000 each year for easy weight reduction schemes such as these, and this type of "treatment" of obesity is perhaps the fastest-growing form of medical quackery there is!

If obesity were merely the result of over-eating, treatment would be relatively simple, the doctors say. But there are several possible medical reasons for obesity, and each patient must be treated according to the reason for his obesity:

1) Environmental, or "misnutrition" due to the excessive availability of food; 2) physiological, which may be due to aging, to the onset of menopause, or the lack of exercise; 3) psychoneurotic, or emotional, obesity; 4) genetic, or metabolic, obesity such as may be related to diabetes; 5) hormonal obesity; and 6) iatrogenic obesity, that which is caused by certain drugs, such as "the pill."

Some of the most interesting reasons for obesity, bariatricians say, are psychological. Dr. Jean Mayer of the Department of Nutrition at Harvard agrees. He says: "Many of the obese are effectively, indeed compulsively, habituated to excessive food intake or weight gain."

THERE ARE no shortcuts to losing weight, according to the American Society of Bariatrics, the association of physicians who specialize in weight reduction. Losing weight, it says, is a medical problem and to do it safely and permanently, a physician should be consulted.

Dr. Grace A. Goldsmith, Professor of Medicine at Tulane University School of Medicine, states: "Too little attention has been given to the facets of therapy: motivation, psychic and emotional aspects, familial and environmental problems and individualization of treatment with close supervision. Therapeutic success can be obtained only if the patient strongly desires to lose weight, and if the physician is willing to devote the necessary time to the patient's problems."

Because a good patient-physician relationship is so important to effective reducing, bariatricians concentrate on dealing with many different aspects of obesity. They endeavor to guide patients in a safe, sensible weight-reduction plan that takes into account the psychological as well as physical factors involved. Members of the American Society of Bariatrics are specialists who have agreed to highly restrictive procedures in their medical practice. One aim of the society is to educate people against common misconceptions about weight reduction.

It cannot be overemphasized that overweight is a medical problem, capable of control by medical means, not by self-administered crash diets, fad foods and magic pills. According to Dr. Norman C. Joliffe of the New York City Department of Health, "At least 90 per cent of all the people who lose weight on a diet proceed to gain it right back, and usually they gain more than they have lost." For the vast majority of people, there is no royal road to slimness, the bariatricians point out, short of the necessary change in eating habits accompanied by an increase in activity on the part of the patient when possible.

The American Society of Bariatrics offers these "do's" for the individual who wants to lose weight:

1) Consult the family physician or a physician who specializes in weight control. Many specialists require their patients to undergo a complete medical examination including electrocardiogram, blood chemistry, urinalysis, and various tests of metabolism.

2) Become more active. Walk rather than ride whenever you can. Inactivity is a major cause of overweight.

3) Avoid candy, snacks and stay away from the refrigerator.

4) Eat a big high protein breakfast . . . eggs and meat. Coffee alone is not enough.

5) Avoid caffeine. Drink no more than two "live" cups of coffee, tea or glasses of cola daily.

6) Learn the basis of good nutrition so that you will know the proper foods to eat and those foods to avoid.

No one should be left to cope with an overweight problem by himself. The overweight individual needs the moral support and affection of his family to solve his problem. Overweight is not gluttony, but a panorama of diseases.

Mini-Skirts More Than Mini-News

By JOAN DEPPA

PARIS (UPI)—When Molyneux shows mini-skirts, it's certain they're here to stay.

Capt. Edward Molyneux didn't slash the hemlines himself. He turned the scissors over to four young successors, including a brilliant Dane.

The change made Molyneaux virtually the only house in Paris where an ultra-conservative mother might take her with-it daughter and both come out happy.

Lars Hillingso of Denmark was undoubtedly the most original of the four designers and one of the most original in Paris this season. He rightly deserved the first really enthusiastic applause heard so far.

His line, both fitted and tent-shaped, was typified by a suit-over-dress combination with a short unfitted jacket that ended slightly before the hipbone where it met a gathered skirt, widened further by patch pockets on the side.

When the jacket and skirt came off, there was a neat sweater dress underneath. When the suit was in double-face wool, the outfit would withstand icy winter weather without a separate coat.

Hillingso did coats in the same line that were the only relief from narrow fitted coats seen so far this season. With their rounded shoulders and patch pockets at the sides they looked new enough and neat enough to succeed.

His evening dresses were both elegant and practical. One model walked out in a short-skirted peach colored cocktail dress that looked as if its bodice and shoulder straps were "embroidery" off without any trouble to reveal an excellent plain dress.

Berry-Bowles Plan September Nuptials

Wayne graduated from Redwood High School in Larkspur and Whitman College in Walla Walla, Wash. where he received a B.A. degree in economics. He was an affiliate of Delta Tau Delta fraternity. He is a lieutenant with the Supply Corps of the United States Naval Reserve at the Naval Air Station in Norfolk.

The future bridegroom's sisters are Carol and Susan Berry of Corte Madera and grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Henry Larrieu of Healdsburg.

The wedding is planned for Sept. 7 at St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Norfolk with the couple to live in Virginia Beach.

Buy Meat, Vegetables While In Good Supply

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that meat and poultry, several fresh vegetables, and some fresh fruit are in excellent supply in food stores and supermarkets for weekend food shoppers.

Broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys continue to be the most abundant meats. Beef items in the abundant class are roasts, steaks, and ground beef, and perhaps liver in some areas. Smoked picnics are the featured pork item. Bacon, butts, chops, and hams should be abundantly available in all areas along with sausage and spareribs in some areas. Fish fillets, canned tuna, and North Pacific halibut steaks are fish buys to watch for.

Cabbage, celery, corn, cucumbers, lettuce, onions, potatoes, and tomatoes should be readily available in all areas and in more than adequate supply. Cantaloupes, peaches, plums, and watermelons are the most abundant fruits. Bananas and blueberries are in the abundant class in some areas.

IN THE WEST:

Grade AA eggs are showing price increases in all West Coast markets this week, especially in Southern California where large and medium sizes are higher.

Ready-to-cook chicken fryers are down in San Francisco and Los Angeles. Price trends on fresh pork are fairly steady, although some major cuts have decreased significantly in California. In Los angeles, fresh loins are below last week's listings and Boston butts are down. Prices on cured pork are generally steady, although smoked hams are higher in the Bay area. Wholesale cuts of beef are mostly steady. Veal is less in Portland.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES in best supply include bananas, cantaloupes, peaches, plums, watermelons, cabbage, carrots, cucumbers, lettuce, dry onions, and potatoes.

Fish buys to watch for are salmon steaks, sea bass, rockfish fillets, sole and flounder fillets, canned tuna, north Pacific halibut steaks, ling cod, and ocean perch fillets.

JUST IN case you thought the mini skirt had gone about as far as it could go — Feraud opened the Paris fall and winter showings with a veritable renaissance of the mini-look. The collection included tunic and tights combinations and a line of twirling, whirling skirts. This sketch reflects the basic lines of the Feraud collection.

Africa Stirred By Miniskirts

By KENNETH L. WHITING

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The miniskirt may be passe in some fashion centers of the world, but it still stirs passions in Africa.

"I am aware of the presence of miniskirts among us," said the Swaziland local government minister, Prince Mfanasibili. He had been asked in Parliament what steps the government planned against the wearing of miniskirts by Swazi women.

"I have taken no steps yet to discourage the wearing of miniskirts in Swaziland because I have had no reaction against this fashion from members of the public. . . ."

Elsewhere, the reaction has been bitter.

THE MALAWI NEWS, official organ of President Hastings K. Banda's Malawi Congress party, said: "All we want is the nakedness to stop at once.

Miniskirts were outlawed in Malawi four months ago.

Kenya's defense minister, Dr. Njoroge Mungai, said miniskirts, wigs and other mod fashions are an "affront to the dignity and purpose of African society."

MINISKIRTS have been branded "un-Zambian" in Zambia. Militant youth wing members of the ruling United National Independence party campaigning against the fashion have been known to rip miniskirts from girls in city streets.

Conservative governments in Africa view the mini as a leftwing symbol of revolt. Left-leaning governments say it exemplifies right-wing decadence.

Miniskirts were blamed for widespread rioting in Ethiopia last April in which 50 persons were injured, 100 vehicles destroyed and the schools closed for two weeks.

Demonstrations designed to prevent a fashion show by university faculty wives, mostly Americans, sparked the riots. Student dissatisfaction and vague political unrest is believed at the bottom of miniskirt riots.

MINISKIRTS also have been condemned in the Congo Republic Brazzaville, Uganda Tanzania and elsewhere. But controversy over the short, short skirts is not limited to black Africa.

South Africa's Natal Province still has an 1880 law on the books providing for three days in jail or a fine of not more than $2.80 for anyone appearing in public not covered from neck to knee.

THE PUBLIC Morals Commission of South Africa's sternly Calvinist Reformed Church recently asked local authorities to crack down on over-exposure in public. This set attorneys checking the law books to see how such a demand might be enforced.

One Pretoria lawyer reported that a successful prosecution under common law for wearing too scanty a skirt would depend on proof that it had a depraving effect on the morals of others.

It also would be necessary to prove that it was done willfully, the lawyer said. In other words, that the wearer of such an abbreviated costume intended to deprave and was not merely following fashion.

Woman Says Female Supremacy Is Growing In Unequal Dimensions

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—The note that came across my desk informed me that: "Women have claimed another record in their fight for female supremacy."

It went on to say, "a recent study of body dimensions shows that women have an average seat breadth of 14.4 inches to the mere 14 inches recorded by the average man."

I'm not so sure that women are in a "fight for female supremacy" to begin with. And certainly not in this area. Equality yes. Equal pay for equal work, yes. Equal opportunities for education, yes. Equal opportunities for the executive suites, yes. But even equality in seating measurements, no. Diet foods and calorie counters, here we come:

What got me started on this subject of derriere dimensions was a batch of statistics on American girths compiled by the American Seating Co., Grand Rapids, Mich. The concern calls itself the world's largest producer of public seating for such as theater, schools, transportation and stadiums.

Naturally, it has to keep track of body changes and when they occur. Man, it has found, today reaches his maximum seat breadth in the ages of 25 to 34. Women expand later, reaching their maximum breadth between the ages of 45 to 54.

Seat breadth is one of the few body measurements in which women exceeded men in a probability sample of 7,710 persons from ages 18 to 79, reports B. W. Henrikson, vice-president for research and development for the 82-year-old company.

The seating company notes that through the years it's had to adapt to expanding America. The average 17 to 18 inch theater seat of 25 years ago is obsolete and most auditoriums now are using 20, 21 and 22 inch wide seats.

Where will it all end? Henrikson says the experts predict that the 21st century woman will stand an average of five feet eight inches, man six feet six inches.

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

The success of an experimental program initiated last spring to prepare Fairfax School District teachers for their roles as outdoor and nature education instructors has resulted in plans to extend it to another Marin district during the coming school year. The objective is to make of the outdoor area immediately surrounding the school building a veritable nature laboratory for teachers and students. Details of the program are the subject of a feature story in tomorrow's Marin Magazine.

Summer is traditionally carnival-time in Marin County. It is the time for ferris wheels and merry-go-rounds, sideshows and pitching pennies, hurdy-gurdy music and the spiels of barkers. And it is a time of fun for adults and kids alike. Writer-photographer Gil Pearson examines this Marin tradition and the people who make their living from it in a special picture story that will be one of the highlights of tomorrow's issue of the I-J weekend supplement.

Colorado Hot, Cold

DENVER (AP) — There is a difference of 178 degrees in the two extremes in temperature in Colorado records. The coldest mark ever reported was 60 below zero at Taylor Park Dam in 1951 and the hottest was 118 degrees at Bennett, east of Denver, in 1888.

Plot May Figure In Newton Trial

OAKLAND (AP)—The defense in the Huey Newton murder case hinted it would try to prove the Black Panther is on trial as a result of a police plot.

In questioning a prospective juror, defense counsel Charles Garry declared: "We plan to show that the police instigated and plotted the incident that brought Huey Newton here."

Objection by the prosecutor and the trial judge resulted in Garry's changing his comment to a question: "Would you find it hard to believe that police would plot and instigate an incident against a defendant?"

ACT Ventures Onto TV To Save Its Life

The American Conservatory Theater will show its stuff in a television special Monday night in a final appeal for financial support from Bay Area residents.

ACT announced last week it would have to disband if another $104,000 were not raised by July 31.

The company will present "ACT Now" at 9 p.m. on educational Channel 9, featuring the entire acting company and training staff in a program of three hours or more.

There will also be mime, jazz dance demonstrations, and circus techniques by members of the ACT Summer Training Congress.

The performance will be broadcast live from the Geary Theater. Tickets will be available at the box office an hour before the show, and volunteers and actors will man telephones during the show to take call-in pledges.

Contributions may be sent to the California Theater Foundation, Suite 200, 127 Montgomery Street, San Francisco.

ART REVIEW

Two Artists Speak Different Tongues; Both Understandable

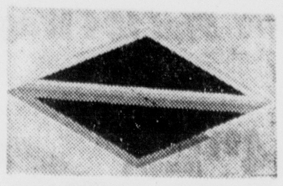
By LAURA DEVENDORF

SAN FRANCISCO — An odd combination of talents share space this month at the Arlene Lind Gallery at 473 Jackson Street in San Francisco.

Marin artist, Don Henrico, works in crisply-painted, shaped canvas using sparse selection of forms resembling letters of the alphabet while Giovanni Donovan explores pathos and poetry expansively through ceramic sculpture.

Although each approach has merit, the language of these two artists has nothing at all in common. Donovan dwells on emotional suggestion, while Henrico is all directness and of the two, Henrico is the most consistently successful.

He doesn't extend himself very far. He relies on a few stylized shapes, tall leaning Z's, M's, L's, S's and some interlocking geometry, all defined by the joined sections or bending edges of the canvas itself. Each is painted in controlled bands of color which change abruptly in width or shade or recede regularly into space with a single color fading in value.



THE DIRECT APPROACH
Don Henrico's painting

Even reversing, inverting or laying like shapes on their sides is a thin disguise and Henrico's entire theme is really so limited and simple it could be a huge bore. Monotony, however, isn't Henrico's bag, and diversity is achieved because he has a color sense that is aware and vital.

Those tall, tilted Z's, for example, are identical. Yet one seems mechanistic with its black, white, red and gleaming silver. Another pulses with hot stripes of orange, reds, pinks and purple. While a third, in graduated tones from cerulean to navy and traced with a thin red line, has the strangest effect of all. The blues laid on at an angle, fall away with such force that looking at it you experience a state of near-vertigo.

The mood changes are simply the result of paint, thoughtfully applied, showing just what drama can occur even within the most confining vocabulary for expression.

Donovan does anything but recognize such limitations. He often embraces lengthy and expansive sections of poetic thought within a single piece of work. At times he embellishes his interpretations by scratching further messages into the sculpture itself. At times, too, it is all very confusing.

Some thoughts emerge as a cogent whole, such as "Song of Experience," a coffin covered with figurative reliefs depicting today's violence. And free-form shapes, Gibran-like nudes riding birds or the backs of fish, or faces rising bumpily from pie-shaped plaques, are other themes.

Indeed, Donovan has a host of deep and fascinating thoughts but at times, handicaps himself by injecting too many of them into a single work. Henrico takes a simple idea and plays with it extensively, one piece at a time, within a restricted area. And while Donovan gives you more to think about, Henrico's message is the one that comes through most clearly.

Three Apply For Seat On College Board

Three persons have applied for the vacant trustee seat on the Marin Junior College District board, Board President Theodore C. Wellman announced today, adding that applications are still being accepted.

The board is seeking to fill the seat of Alan D. Ewen, whose resignation will be effective next Friday.

The applicants are Michael R. Peevey of San Rafael, Dr. Robert Lee of San Anselmo and Donald K. Felt of Mill Valley.

Peevey, who lives at 7 Espalda Court, is research director for the California Labor Federation in San Francisco. Lee is a professor of social ethics at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo and lives at 18 Kensington Court.

Felt, a San Francisco attorney, resides at 90 Val Vista Road, Mill Valley.

Applications may be sent to Wellman at 1 Vista Drive, Kentfield, or to the College of Marin, Wellman said. Applications will be accepted through Sept. 20, and the candidates will be interviewed at a closed meeting of the trustees late in September. The appointment will follow at a public meeting.

The new trustee will serve through June 30, 1969.

Transportation Group Inactive

Only six of the 14 members of the Marin Citizens Transportation Committee met last night at the Civic Center, and no action was taken, president Jack Haley Jr. reported.

The next meeting of the committee is set for Sept. 26 at the Civic Center. "There will be no August meeting unless something urgent comes up in the meantime," said Haley.

Woman Returns To Find Burglary

Mrs. Day, who had been out of town for a week told Tiburon deputy Ronald C. Spurrell her kitchen window and door had been pried open. Binoculars, a camera, a cigarette box, a pair of men's leather sandals and $25 in cash were gone, Mrs. Day said.

MUSIC REVIEW

Double Duo Should Design A Series

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

"Music for a Summer Evening" presented last night by the Marin Double Duo at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley was one of the finest chamber music concerts we have heard in a long, long time.

Composed of husband-wife couples Charles and Robaline Meacham, violin and piano, and Lucien and Jean Mitchell, viola and cello — among Marin's best musicians — they made a perfectly matched ensemble with fine balance among instruments.

This was the second concert they have presented as a group, the first having been a very successful one last summer. Would that they could make it a series instead of a single concert during the summer.

The program was ideal from the standpoint of variety of instrumental combinations and giving all an opportunity to shine both as an ensemble and as individual instruments.

Furthermore, the selections had the advantage of novelty and freshness, for they were seldom performed works for piano and strings. Opening and closing the evening were piano quartettes.

The full capacity of the four musicians was best revealed in the closing Piano Quartette Op. 15, No. 1 by Faure, with its rich harmonic texture and scintillating romantic style that made it a brilliant finale. The sprightly scherzo was a special delight.

The opening Piano Quartette Op. 1, No. 1, of Medelssohn was notable for the excellent pianism of Robaline Meacham, whose crisp, clear articulation and rhythmic momentum provided a strong background and cohesive force for the other instruments without being obtrusive.

New to us, it was amazing as a composition written by Mendelssohn at the age of 13! The writing showed great pianistic facility, and it is certainly worthy of performance on its own merits and not just as a prodigy's showpiece.

The Sonata in D Minor for cello and piano by Corelli gave Jean Mitchell the chance to demonstrate her lovely singing tone and silken smooth legato well as an airy grace.

Perhaps the most interesting of all were the three madrigals for viola by Bohuslav Martinu. Madrigals was an odd title for what amounted to a single work with three movements, since one thinks of voice in connection with that term, and it was far from vocal in character with its emphasis on instrumental virtuosity. In fact, one seldom gets to hear the virtuoso potentialities of the viola heard in this work.

The utmost precision and a perfect and identical sense of timing were necessary, and Meacham and Mitchell were mutually complementary and equally outstanding in their performance.

The whole program was indeed music for musicians, and there were many distinguished ones in the audience.

Bouquets to all the performers, but a brickbat to the couple who brought a young child who disturbed at least the rear half of the audience with loud talking and fidgeting. This kind of evening concert is no place for a young child.

Ballet Auditions For Scholarships

Auditions for ballet scholarships, the first offered by Marin Music Chest, will be held at 1:30 p.m. Sept. 5 in Angelico Hall, Dominican College, San Rafael.

Those eligible to audition are Marin ballet students from 14 to 19 who have studied ballet at least four years.

Marin Music Chest's auditions for vocal and instrumental scholarships will be held at 1:30 p.m. Aug. 29 in the music department of San Domenico School, San Anselmo. Marin musicians from 14 to 19 who have studied two years or more are eligible.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these reviews and ratings of movies currently being shown in Marin County. The council findings are from California and National P-TA magazines and the "Film Report" of the Film Estimate Board of National Organizations. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael or Mill Valley libraries.

FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

"Brighty of Grand Canyon" — Fine animal story is strikingly filmed against breathtaking Grand Canyon. Burro shares acting honors with Joseph Cotton and Dandy Curran.

"Fantastic Voyage" — Extraordinary science fiction adventure film stands in a class by itself, both because of its plot and treatment. It is 1995.

"Never a Dull Moment" — Dick Van Dyke will delight everyone as he outmaneuvers the crooks.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Guess Who's Coming to Dinner" — Moving story of parents' reactions to a racially mixed marriage . . . tasteful rendering of a contemporary problem.

"The Odd Couple" — Beautifully acted and directed humorous character study of two divorced men sharing an apartment.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Petulia" — Bride of six months has wearied of her husband. Immature girl becomes enamored of an older man, a jaded surgeon who has recently been divorced. Imaginative photography. Confused ethics.

"Rosemary's Baby" — About young woman who is marked by witches to conceive and bear Satan's baby. Brutal rape scene, nightmares during pregnancy and hospital scene during delivery add up to one and one-half hours of sensationalism, shock and terror. Parents shouldn't be mislead by title.

"Smashing Time" — Rough and tumble picture takes healthy satirical swipes at mod groups and their hangouts. Continuous use of crude slapstick is a bore, dialogue is difficult to understand.

"Wild, Wild Planet" — Mad scientist on legendary planet kidnaps choice specimens from Earth where he dismembers them and uses parts of their bodies as transplants on other people. Sadism, violence, blood and gore are sickening.

ADULTS ONLY

"Bedazzled" — Sophisticated film based on the Faust legend. Pungent English satire of modern life leaves few present-day situations unscathed. Performances are brilliantly underplayed.

"Closely Watched Trains" — Tragi-comic story of World War II. Incompetent lover is educated by his adviser and has an affair with an older woman.

"Thomas Crown Affair" — Plotting and execution of big bank robberies is ingenious. Criminal and investigator become involved in torrid love affair. Crime pays well in this case. Very modern treatment,

Rock To Bach, Music Turns Him On

By MARION DIETRICH

A young man, turned on by good teachers, has switched from rock to Bach and won a three-year scholarship at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music to study piano and voice.

Twenty-one-year-old Kent Weaver of Lagunitas his sight impaired at 4 and later lost entirely, taught himself the piano. "I could play all the popular tunes when I was in the fourth grade," he said.

"Later I taught myself rock and got pretty good at it. But then I was turned onto the beauty of the classics, and that's when I wanted to study music.

"Darrel Parker, choir director at Sir Francis Drake High School, opened things up. I met him in my senior year and he really turned me on to the soul behind classical music.

Three years ago, after high school graduation, Weaver began studying music. "I always wanted to learn more about music, but you can't do anything extra while you're going to high school," he explained.

The young musician studies voice with Bella Resek in Mill Valley. Bob Lamb of Larkspur is his piano coach and Parker and Fae McNally, director of the Inverness Music Festival, also supply help and encouragement.

"They're where it's at," Weaver declared, his heart with Bach but his speech more reminiscent of rock and his lengthy locks and beard less in tune with long haired classics than with the current beat. "I don't do anything but listen and imitate them."

All this isn't quite as easy as it sounds.

When he was 4, Weaver had an infection that affected his eyesight. During his freshman year in high school, his partial sight blinked out to blindness in a few weeks.

"Oh, it wasn't that bad, it was then I relaxed," he said. "The half-way house is the hardest part, when people think you can see and don't understand."

Weaver learns his music, bar by bar, by listening. He learns quickly.

"When you don't have sight," he pointed out, "you develop other senses and abilities, mainly memory. However, when you are blind, you have to keep more on your toes, put out more effort, work harder."

And he does work hard —six to eight hours a day, sometimes more, practicing music.

"There are benefits to being blind," continued the young musician, whose sensitiveness to sound enables him to distinguish the materials around him, like concrete or wood, as he walks.

"For one thing you don't get hung up looking at the piano keys. A lot of teachers are getting back to covering the keyboard. If you look at the keys, you are going for the notes; if you can't see them, you are concentrating on the music."

Last year Weaver sang the role of the blind Samson in "Samson and Delilah" at the Inverness Music Festival. This evening at this year's festival he will sing a "Sustina to Albert Camus," with words by Joseph Van Rogers and music by Stephen Andrews, both of Fairfax and friends of Weaver.

But his main interest is piano. His goal: "To have a professional career if I can. I want to become proficient with the gifts I have. I don't know how good I can get yet, I just have to keep on working."

Weaver has a love of music as wide as it is deep. "I like everything from hill billy to Hawaiian guitar, everything has its place," he said enthusiastically. "Music is so much a part of me I am unhappy to be away from it even for a day."

The long hours of practicing seem to recharge Weaver, who, his father Walter Weaver says, is the happiest of his seven children.

As the young musician expressed it, "It makes it all worth while when you sit down and play something very well and know you played it well."

Chess Classes Set To Start In Mill Valley

Chess classes sponsored by the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Department will start at the Community Recreation Center next Thursday.

Mill Valley chess enthusiast L. A. Post will conduct the classes from 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday evenings for eight weeks. The course will be open to anyone interested in either learning chess or improving his game.

Signups for judo, pre-school tumbling, tennis lessons and the Tiny Tots program are also being accepted at the center between 2 and 4 p.m. daily.

Judo and pre-school tumbling classes will start Thursday and run through Aug. 22.

Dog Tattooing Set For Aug. 3

Smart dogs with smart owners may be wearing tattoos this season. Fido will not be sporting the anchors or hoochy koochy dancers favored by sailors, but neat identification numbers.

The Marin County Dog Training Club will hold a tattooing clinic at 2 p.m. Aug. 3 at the Marin County Humane Society of Marin. grounds in Ignacio, Mrs. William J. Carter of 3330 Paradise Drive, Tiburon, is application chairman.

American Kennel Club registration numbers or Social Security numbers are painlessly tattooed on the dog's flank or inside his ear for permanent identification, according to Mrs. Carter. Tattooing will be done by the United Pet Identification Bureau of Livermore. A $5 fee will be charged.

Tip To Prevent Glass In Lunch

Accountant-Auditor Robert J. Ramage of the county auditor-controller's office should receive a $10 award for his "safety suggestion of the month," chairman Mario Balestrieri of the Marin County Safety Commission recommended today.

The recommendation will go to the Marin County Board of Supervisors Tuesday for approval.

Ramage suggested that a prominently colored tape be placed on the edges of glass guards at the civic center cafeteria serving counter so that plates will not be bumped against the glass, causing chips of glass to drop into the food.

Night Students To Show Flowers

Next Thursday and Firday an exhibit of flower arrangements will be on display at the Bank of Marin in San Rafael during banking hours.

Exhibitors are students of a night class sponsored by the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department and taught by Mrs. Russell Bjorn.

MATHEMATICS — Gail and Guy Ridley of Novato concentrate on proving theorems in a college algebra course which they have taken this summer at Sonoma State College. The course was an experiment to show that junior high school and younger students can learn higher mathemtics.

Everyone Knows One Greater Than Zero

By THERON A. NEWELL

One is greater than zero.

Everyone knows that, but could he prove it?

Gail Ridley, 11, a sixth grade student at Rancho School in Novato can. So can her brother, Guy, 13, an eighth grade student at San Jose Junior High School in Novato.

The proof is one of the theorems they studied in an experimental college mathematics course this summer at Sonoma State College, offered to 36 select junior high school students by Dr. Clement Falbo, chairman of the college's division of natural sciences.

There was no school credit for the course, and no grades. All of the students volunteered and there was nothing but their willingness to work and learn that keeps them in the class, Falbo said.

"It's fun, but it's hard," said Gail yesterday, pushing her blond hair back from her face.

Gail has no ambition to be a mathematician. She would rather cook, she said, but did admit to receiving more A's than B's in arithmetic.

Guy, who received B's last year and A's the previous year in mathematics, said that he did not know whether the course would inspire him to take more mathematics or not. He will get algebra in the ninth grade this fall.

"I want to be an astronomer and have all of my courses laid out for high school," he said.

The brown-haired, brown-eyed boy said that he has a lot of books on astronomy and a three inch reflector-refractor telescope with which he studies the stars.

The course was one of the foundation courses for college algebra, according to Falbo, who donated his time, while the college furnished the classroom facilities. The only cost to students was 80 cents for their notebook on the axioms and theorems, said Mrs. Thomas G. Ridley, their mother.

Falbo was trying to prove that junior high school students can master higher mathematics because they have no preconceived ideas about it, he said. He obtained his students by writing to schools in Marin, Napa, Sonoma, Solano, Lake and Mendocino counties. He taught 18 of the students while a graduate mathematics student, Nasato Hayaski taught the other.

The two Novato children, the only ones from Marin County, were enrolled by their mother who is studying English at Sonoma State.

The students attended school an hour and a half each morning for four days each week during the five week course, for a total 30 hours of classroom study. These junior high and younger students have proven 36 theorems during their course. The average college student proves 30 during a 45 hour course in regular study, Doctor Falbo said.

At their home at 1437 Buchanan Street, Gail and Guy quietly concentrated together as they explained how they set about proving one is greater than zero.

"I used the indirect method of proving that one is not equal to zero or that one is not less than zero," Gail explained. In nine steps she and her brother had proven the theorem mathematically.

Originally Guy had done it in about 20 minutes and Gail in 30 minutes. She had a little help from Guy, she admitted.

One of the harder and longer theorems which they proved was: if X belongs to S (a number) and Y belongs to S; and X is not equal to 0 and Y is not equal to 0; then $X/Y \times Y/X = 1$.

Guy was lost in thought as he showed how he applied five of the axioms to prove it in five steps.

The course ended yesterday.

"I'm glad it's over; now I can get to sleep later in the morning," Guy said, his eyes lighting up. For a would-be astronomer who will eventually do a lot of his work at night, not having to get up early in the morning for school seemed to be a welcome end to the course.

Burglary Reported At Rental Firm

Frederick C. Grange told San Rafael Police yesterday that a typewriter and adding machine had been stolen from the office and numerous tools and equipment stolen from the shed at Grange Debris Box Rentals, 2031 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael.

Grange said he found a door had been kicked in to gain entry during the night.

Bel Marin Hits Snag On Dredge Costs

The Bel Marin Keys Community Services District is financially unable to do anything about dredging the lagoon, it found out last night at a special meeting of the board in the community center, according to publicity chairman Joan Wrightsman.

It would take approximately $64,000 to dredge the lagoon, and the district can borrow only $34,000, based on the limit of 1 per cent of the assessed valuation of $340,000, she said.

The special meeting was called when the board received a letter from Douglas Bradshaw, executive vice president of the Midvalley Savings and Loan Association at Marysville, that firms financing Bel Marin Keys development would dredge the access between Novato Creek and the Petaluma River and wanted to know if the community services district board wanted the lagoon dredged at the same time.

The five lending firms financing the dredging are Midvalley, Eureka Savings and Loan Association of Eureka, Silvergate Savings and Loan Association of Los Angeles, Lassen Savings and Loan Association of Chico, and McAlester Savings and Loan Association of San Francisco, according to Mrs. Wrightsman.

The district board was informed that it could deposit the spoil on the north end of Hamilton Air Force Base or Jack Kinney's property north of Novato Creek, she said.

Flagman Struck By Car, Suffers Broken Leg

A 57-year-old Petaluma flagman working on a road construction project in Corte Madera suffered a broken leg yesterday when he was hit by a car.

Paul Greves as treated at Marin General Hospital and then transferred to Hillcrest Hospital in Petaluma, where he was reported in good condition today.

Driver of the car, Jon Shubert, 17, of 29 Ebbtide Passage, Corte Madera, said that he did not see Greves because he stepped out into the road from in front of a parked truck.

The accident happened at 10:52 a.m. on Golden Hind Passage in front of San Clemente School, where the Maggiora and Ghilotti firm is engaged in street work.

Bolinas District Issue On Agenda

Should the Bolinas Harbor District be dissolved?

This is the major topic to be discussed by the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission on Thursday at 8 p.m. in the board of supervisors' chambers at the Civic Center.

Two other items on the agenda are:

Transfer of 3.4 acres of land owned by Frederick G. Zelinsky along Tiburon Boulevard from the City of Belvedere to the City of Tiburon to straighten the boundary between the two cities.

Continued discussion of future sanitary service in Southern Marin. Seven sanitary districts in Southern Marin cannot agree as yet on whether a county sanitation district should be formed or whether the service should be taken over by the Marin Municipal Water District.

Tears Interrupt Herrera's Recital

Herrera, on trial in Marin Superior Court for the Jan. 9 slaying of Ronald Lee Washburn in San Rafael, took the stand this morning as the defense began its presentation in the trial's sixth day.

Herrera began to tell the jury of a conversation with 15-year-old Kathy Bloomer, who later became his wife, when his eyes filled with tears and he stopped speaking. Judge Joseph G. Wilson ordered a brief recess.

In his opening statement, Defense Attorney Harold J. Truett told the jury Herrera would tell to the best of his ability what happened in the killing of Washburn, and said doctors who have examined Herrera would also testify.

In his opening testimony, Herrera recounted his early life in El Salvador in the household of a harsh father who ran the family with an iron hand.

He had begun to tell of his meeting with Kathy Bloomer and the period when they started dating. He said she had told him her relationship with her parents was strained.

"Then I asked if she wanted to be my girl friend . . ." Herrera began, but he choked up at that point.

Herrera testified that he first left home in 1963 and went to Mexico, then to the United States without a visa, but turned himself in and was deported from Alameda County in early 1964. He returned to this country on a visitor's visa in March, 1966.

Grand Jurors Indict Rape-Kidnap Suspect

Jerry Stanley Borst, 22, was indicted last night for kidnaping and rape by the Marin County Grand Jury.

He is accused of kidnaping a 28-year-old Novato woman with intent to rob her July 9, with kidnaping her two small sons, and with raping her. The woman testified before the jury.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales told newsmen he chose to seek the indictment rather than have a perliminary hearing in Marin Municipal Court to avoid unnecessary embarrassment to the victims prior to trial. Borst, of Novato, is scheduled for arraignment on the indictment in Marin Superior Court at 9:30 a.m. Monday.

He is in County Jail in lieu of $31,250 bail. He had surrendered himself to officers in Albuquerque, N.M.

Harbor Budget Approved; Dissolution Impact Eyed

The board anticipates no increase in the tax rate of 31 cents per $100 assessed valuation levied last year because of increases in property assessments, Mrs. Harriet Greene, board treasurer, reported.

The budget breakdown is: Salaries, $600; legal fees, $1,500; insurance, $200; administration and operation, $4,500; engineering, $2,500; land acquisition payments, $12,000; state loan payment, $3,701; coordinator, $6,600; and reserves, $3,500, Mrs. Greene said.

Director Thomas J. Barfield reported that the board's attorneys have advised that Bolinas area residents still will be liable for the long term fiscal oblications of the district if it is dissolved by the county board of supervisors. Other county residents would not assume any portion of the debts, he said.

The district presently owes more than $100,000 in long term loans: a $72,000 state planning loan and $40,000 in land acquisition and other commitments, according to Norman T. Gilroy, district coordinator and planner.

In addition, Barfield said district voters would not have direct control of the lagoon, nor would they be given an opportunity to earn revenues to offset these costs, yet they would still be responsible to repay the funds.

The county will not gain control of the harbor lagoon lands if the district is dissolved according to the attorneys, Barfield said.

Control of the lagoon will revert to the state under the reversionary clauses in the harbor district's agreement with the state, Gilroy explained.

The only way the county can get control of the lagoon, he said, is by the state Legislature approving a new land grant for the lagoon giving it to the county under conditions similar to those imposed on the harbor district.

The Bolinas Harbor District board also:

CONTRACT — Renewed a contract with the U.S. Geological Survey to continue the sedimentation study of the lagoon during the 1968-69 fiscal year, subject to final approval of the county.

TOPOGRAPHIC — Heard that the topographic study is nearly finished and should be available to the commission in one week.

SOILS STUDY — Requested the county to make available to the public copies of the soils study of the Bolinas watershed recently completed by the Soil Conservation Service.

SAND STUDY —Heard that the sand traces study of the sandspit has started with study stations established at the end of Brighton Avenue in Bolinas and adjacent to the Stinson Beach State Park.

Greenbrae Scouts Seek Safe Walkway

Committee members of Boy Scout Troop 59 of Greenbrae today asked the Marin County supervisors to provide a safe pedestrian walkway along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard or close the strip to pedestrians.

The committee, headed by Dr. Jack Vogel, chairman, complained in a letter to supervisor Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen:

"The residents of Greenbrae are signing a petition recognizing a hazardous safety problem which exists along Drake Boulevard from approximately North Eliseo Drive to Corte Comoda on the north side of the boulevard," the Scout group wrote.

Noting "numerous injuries and deaths to children" on the strip, the committee declared: "In the event it is truly impossible to make the walking strip safe for pedestrian traffic, we recommend that it be closed to through pedestrian traffic and a new pedestrian route be found to fulfill the needs of this present walk."

The Greenbrae Property Owners Association and individual residents have also complained about the dangers to pedestrians and bicyclists along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Woman Booked On Card Charge

Barbara Jean Lane, 34, of 528 D Street, San Rafael, was booked into County Jail yesterday on suspicion of possession of stolen property and forgery.

She was arrested on a complaint of Wallace J. Fenn at the West End Texaco station in San Rafael that she was using a credit card issued to an R. M. Ormsby, police said.

She was held in lieu of $2,500 bail.

Bayside School Rec Proposal Draws Fire

The City of Sausalito should not become directly involved in recreation programs planned for Bayside School, Sausalito Citizens Council directors agreed last night according to Carl W. Spring, corresponding secretary.

Directors were concerned with the city's liability in case of an accident since the building has been condemned for classroom use by the school district, Spring said.

All 11 members of the board attended the meeting, Spring said. No one was present in the audience.

Concern was also expressed that the area is "extremely dangerous after dark, especially for juveniles," he said. The board did not make any suggestions as to what steps might be taken to make the area safer.

The board criticized the Sausalito School District board for appropriating $1,600 for publication of a school newsletter which is sent to parents. Spring said the budget appropriation last year was only $600.

Directors also named committees to attend the school district budget session at 7 p.m. Tuesday and the joint meeting of the city council and planning commission on the central waterfront plan at 8 p.m. Tuesday. Finally, they urged more action by the city and county be taken on developing a bicycle path in Southern Marin, Spring reported.

The next meeting of the directors will be at 8 p.m. Aug. 29 at the home of Mrs. Ruth Sisson, 160 Curry Lane, Sausalito.

Fairfax Planners Approve Olema Glen Plan Changes

The Fairfax Planning Commission last night approved amendments to the preliminary development plan for construction of a convalescent hospital and apartments on 8.2 acres in Olema Glen, according to secretary Dell Blodgett.

Originally approved in November, the plan calls for construction of a 99-bed hospital facility, medical offices for seven doctors, 66 garden apartment units and a restaurant to be built by Robert Dill of Vallejo on the site near Olema Drive and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Last night's changes included incorporation of the medical offices within the hospital and a shuffling of several apartments to avoid a sewer line, Mrs. Blodgett said. A completion date for the complex has not been set.

The Fairfax Planning Commission also:

SUBDIVISION — Heard a report from Werner von Gundell, county chief of current planning, regarding subdivision ordinances. The report included recommendations to dedicate lands for schools and parks.

PERMITS — Granted zoning permits to Frank M. Whitney to operate a body and fender shop, and to Raymond C. Jackson to operate motorcycle repair shop, both at 85 Bolinas Road.

BOLINAS ROAD — Recommended to the city council that special use permits be granted to Frank Fuchs to sell fine arts and paintings at 6 Bolinas Road and to Raymond Beisel of Gardens Etc. for a landscape design and construction office at 9 Bolinas Road.

☼ ✱ ○ ● Symbols For Stars In Order Of Brightness

THE AUGUST SKIES

A Dozen Moonlit Evenings Ahead

By SCIENCE SERVICE

You'll enjoy moonlit evenings for about the first 10 days of August and the last two. On Aug. 1 the moon will be at first quarter, setting about midnight. It will be full on the eighth, remaining visible all night. By the 10th, moonrise comes about 9:30 p.m., as twilight is ending. New moon comes on the 23rd. By the 28th it will be a large crescent, setting about 10 p.m. On the 30th first quarter comes again.

The principal changes that one can ordinarily see on the moon occur as sunlight strikes its surface at various angles. At new moon it's in the same direction as the sun. The illuminated half is turned away from us. A few days later it has moved east of the sun and remains above the horizon, low in the west, for an hour or more after sunset. A narrow sliver of the bright half is turned to our view, so we see it as a narrow crescent.

Moving farther and farther from the sun toward the east the crescent enlarges and becomes a half-moon at the phase of first quarter, about a week after new moon.

Then another week passes. It is opposite the sun, so it rises about at sunset and sets at sunrise. The entire sunlit half is now toward us so we have full moon.

Then the moon "wanes." It goes through the phase of last quarter when it rises about midnight. After that it becomes a crescent, which narrows as the bright hemisphere turns away.

About four weeks (actually 29.5 days) after it was new it is new again. The cycle starts over.

The dark areas that form the face of the "man in the moon" are called "seas." Early observers mistakenly thought them to be large bodies of water. With a telescope you can see other lunar features such as craters and mountain ranges. A good pair of binoculars will show some of the larger craters — a hundred miles or more in diameter.

Astronomers once thought that the lunar craters were similar to those of volcanos on earth, but now many think they resulted from meteorites which hit the moon at high speed and exploded. This would produce a crater like that produced on earth by an aerial bomb.

Of course, meteorites contain no explosive, like the TNT of a bomb, but they don't need it. Falling at high speed, they have tremendous energy. When they hit, they penetrate only a short distance before they stop.

Their energy does not just disappear; it is converted to heat. There's enough heat to vaporize most the meteorite itself as well as much of the ground around it. This sudden generation of large volumes of expanding gas makes the explosion.

However, there may be some volcanic activity on the moon. Many astronomers have reported on bright spots that appeared briefly on the dark part of the moon during the past four centuries.

But such reports were seriously questioned, for the moon was supposedly a dead world, where nothing ever happens.

In 1958 a Russian astronomer, N. A. Kozyrev, reported such spots and he was followed by others. Two astronomers at the Lowell Observatory in Arizona said they saw such spots in the fall of 1963. Later they saw them again, and so did other astronomers.

In the United States astronomers have started the "Moon Blink" program to watch the moon carefully, with special equipment, to detect such events. Eventually, perhaps, astronomers around the globe will maintain a nearly round-the-clock watch.

Not enough is yet known to explain these effects, even though their reality seems clearly demonstrated. Probably a discharge of hot gases from beneath the lunar surface is involved. This is something else that astronauts will have to investigate when they get to the moon.

These show the skies as they look about 11 p.m., local daylight saving time, at the beginning of the month. They appear similarly at 10 p.m. in the middle and at 9 p.m. as September begins.

Vega, the brightest star, is at the zenith in Lyra, the lyre. Just to the east (shown partly on each map) is Cygnus, the swan, with the star called Deneb. It is about a third as bright as Vega. High in the south, in Aquila, the eagle, stands Altair. This star is between the other two in brilliamce.

The constellation of Scorpius, the scorpion, is near the southern horizon. Its bright star is red Antares, so low that atmospheric absorption dims it somewhat.

In the bowl of the Dipper are the two "pointers." As the arrow indicates, they show the direction to Polaris, the pole star.

No planet appears on the maps, but you can see Jupiter earlier in the evening, especially at the beginnning of August. They it sets about an hour after the sun. It appears as a very bright star, near the western horizon, soon after sunset.

Venus also is now in the evening sky, but it sets about half an hour after the sun. Thus, it is very hard to see, because the sky is still very bright.

Legislature Presses Campaign To Aid Slum Schools, Find Jobs

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The legislature's most concerted effort to fight poverty and joblessness in California's slums since Gov. Ronald Reagan took office gathered momentum today.

By federal yardsticks, the sum of the several antipoverty bills isn't large: a potential $56.5 million this fiscal year with $50 million of that contingent on voter approval.

But sponsors, including key Republicans and Democrats, say the measures could have significant benefits, both in the immediate future and over the long run.

The Republican chief executive has expressed support for some of the bills and opposition to others, although he hasn't flatly said he would veto any of them.

The major measures:

A six-bill package pushed by Republicans and Democrats. It would pump money and initiative for employment opportunities into big city poverty areas and centralize efforts to find jobs for the hard-core unemployed within a new "Human Resources Department."

A $150 million education bond issue which includes $50 million for reconstruction and repair of aged, broken down schools in urban areas. This would have to be approved by voters at the Nov. 5 general election.

A $5 million program sponsored by Unruh to find summer jobs for youths, mainly in poverty areas. Cities and other local governments would put up a fourth of the cost.

Also before the legislature, but not moving, is a bill to appropriate $61 million to urban area schools. This measure is stalled in the Senate Governmental Efficiency Committee, and not likely to get out, a legislative source said.

Unruh, supporting the measure, said, "For the last 15 years, the people of this state have voted well over a billion dollars in bonds to build school buildings in what largely amounts to the lily-white suburbs of this state."

Meanwhile, the Senate Finance Committee took under submission Unruh's job program bill and the six-bill package backed by Unruh, Finch and other Republicans and Democrats.

Filipino Killed By U.S. Marine

MANILA (AP) — A Filipino was shot to death today by a U.S. Marine at the main gate of the American naval station of Sangley Point, the Foreign office announced.

It said this information came from U.S. Amassador G. Mennen Williams, who called on Foreign Sceretary Narcisco Ramos to express regrets.

The victim was identified as Rogelio Gonzales.

The statement said initial reports indicated he was shot after he failed to halt upon being challenged.

Open Primary Bill Passes But Reagan May Veto It

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation went to Gov. Ronald Reagan's desk today to put on the presidential primary ballot anyone recognized nationally as a candidate — whether he's declared candidacy or not.

But there are signs the bill might die there under the governor's veto pen. "The general idea does not ring any bells with me," he said, adding that he would reserve judgment until the bill gets to him.

The measure won final legislative approval yesterday with bipartisan 27-0 vote in the Senate. Here's the way the proposed "open primary" system would work:

The secretary of state would compile a list of persons "generally advocated for or recognized in the news media through out the United States as actively seeking his party's nomination for president . . ."

The list would be published no later than Feb. 1 before the election as those he intends to put on the primary ballot.

Meanwhile, anyone who isn't on that list could qualify for the ballot if he gets enough signatures on petitions. That is the present requirement for all presidential hopefuls, whether they are nationally prominent or not.

Then a person could remove his name from the ballot if he submits an affidavit at least 60 days before the primary saying he "is not now and does not intend to become" a presidentail candidate in the coming general election.

Reagan, the sole candidate on California's June 4 Republican priary ballot, had reservations about the method, used in Oregon and several other states.

"A political party should have some rights about how it goes about selecting its candidates," he said yesterday.

Backers of the open primary say it woud guarantee that the voters would have a choice among actual candidates.

Moreover, in states where the primary includes the actual candidates as well as a favorite son, there has been an increasing voter trend toward rejecting the latter "phony candidate," said Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Inglewood.

Vietnamese Jail 'Dove' Candidate

SAIGON (UPI)—Truong Dinh Dzu, the "White Dove" peace candidate in South Vietnam's 1967 presidential election, was found guilty today and sentenced to five years at hard labor for "actions against the anti-Communist spirit of the people and armed forces."

Runnerup to President Nguyen Van Thieu, Dzu advocated negotiations with the National Liberation Front (NLF), political arm of the Viet Cong, as a means to end the war. The government does not recognize the NLF.

"I am not guilty," said the 51-year-old lawyer following a two-hour trial before a special military tribunal which allows no appeals on its verdicts or sentences. He was hustled to jail.

The kingdom of Tonga lies north of New Zealand near Fiji and Samoa. It includes about 150 islands and islets in three main groups: volcanic Vava'u, coral Ha'apai and Tongatapu. There are some 60,000 people.

Reed Chief Eyes Local Test Gauge

A move to establish more local standards in school testing programs has been suggested by Reed Union School District Superintendent Dr. H. Joe Edgington in the wake of a report on district fourth, fifth and sixth grade performance in national tests.

More valid comparisons could be obtained by testing the scores of this district against those of children in comparable suburban districts within the county and in other Bay Area communities, Edgington said yesterday.

The School And College Ability test (SCAT) given to Reed seventh graders showed they scored an average 67 points out of 100 for verbal and 65 points for quantitative achievement with 50 the mean level nationally.

The Lorge-Thorndike intelligence test given sixth grades showed an average intelligence quotient of 109 in the verbal tests, with 25 per cent of the Reed 6th grade pupils scoring at or above 109.

Board Rules Plant Equipment Faulty

A $40,000 conterfuge installed at the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District plant last year is still faulty and cannot be accepted as yet, the sanitary district directors decided last night.

The directors, headed by Chariman John E. Duckett, told John Gibbs, representative of Dorr-Oliver Co., the seller, they expect the centrifuge to be in top working condition by Aug. 8.

The district directors authorized the developers of Holiday Inn to start sewer construction at Quail Hill west of the Emporium in three or four weeks. Lee Oberkamper, engineer for the developers, said Holiday Inn hopes to have its building completed by February of next year.

Natives Learn New Thrift Idea

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea (AP) — Native Papuans and New Guineans are learning there are more ways of saving money than burying 10-cent coins.

Latest statistics show they operated 257,000 savings bank accounts with a credit balance of 11,095,000 Australian dollars ($12,426,000) at June 30, 1967. This compared with 50,000 accounts with a total balance of 2,134,000 Australian dollars ($2,390,000) 10 years earlier.

The native people's traditional method of saving since the white man came here has been to bury shillings, and more recently 10-cent coins (worth 11 U.S. cents) since the switch to decimal currency.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE P. VAN DELLEN

Word To The Elderly: Treat Feet With Much Tender Care

VAN DELLEN

Poor circulation due to hardening of the arteries leaves the leg tissues in a precarious condition. Any abuse may further reduce the blood flow leading to pain and gangrene. It is for this reason that the elderly should treat the feet with "tender, loving care."

Good hygiene involves keeping the feet clean by washing daily with warm (not hot) water and a bland soap and drying thoroughly. Massaging gently with cocoa butter or lanolin will prevent cracking and scaling. Shoes and socks that fit well discourage blisters and corns.

THE FEET may be injured in various ways. Mishaps often occur while trimming calluses or the toe nails. A steady hand and good vision are needed but many oldsters lack these attributes. They should consult a physician or a chiropodist for a professional job.

Never use a strong antiseptic to treat ringworm or other foot infections. Victims of poor circulation should not wear round garters or sit with the legs crossed for long periods of time. These do's and don't's sound trivial but most of the gangrene patients I have seen did not follow them.

WHEN HEAT IS applied to a normal foot, healthy vessels open up and deliver extra blood required by increased metabolism. Narrow or plugged arteries, however, are unable to do so, and the tissues die of starvation.

This takes place faster than many people realize. Grandma may develop gangrene overnight by the overzealous use of a heating pad, lamp, or hot water bag. Infection, injury, and chemical burns have the same effect on circulation.

KNEE DERANGEMENT

M. G. writes: Would you please discuss the difference between a break and a dislocation of the knee? I always thought fractures were more serious but now I know that this thinking was incorrect.

REPLY

It is not unusual for a person to reevaluate an illness after he becomes a victim. A fracture involving the joint surface is more serious because the callus that forms is likely to interfere with action of the knee. A dislocation usually occurs when the fibrous capsule surrounding the joint gives way. This causes distress and, furthermore, if healing does not occur, surgery may be needed.

SINGLE USE

R. M. writes: Is ipecac a deadly poison? If the drug is given in small amounts and the person does not vomit would the product have a harmful effect? Please advise.

REPLY

Yes, but most people vomit before it is absorbed. Ipecac is an emetic and there is no reason to take it unless the drug is needed to induce vomiting.

CHILLS AND FEVER

REPLY

Honor To Play In Shrine Game, Says Alvarado

By GARY TISCHLER

LOS ANGELES — The very first time Don Alvarado touched the football before nearly 40,000 fans in the North-South Shrine All-Star game in the Los Angeles Coliseum, he got a first down and lost his shoe.

In a way, that typified pretty much what happened to Alvarado and his North All-Star teammates in the annual extravaganza played for the benefit of crippled children. The North had a bad case of frazzled blaaahs.

The South won, 14-10, and it was strange that it was that close.

Alvarado, the just-graduated all-around ace of Drake High School athletics who started at flankerback, made a singular achievement with that catch, his only one of the night.

It was the North's first pass completion of the night and brought about it's first down late in the first quarter, due to one of his typical extra efforts that gained an extra yard or two, after a short flip from ill-fated North quarterback Mike Kloos of San Ramon High of Danville.

The Stanford-bound star said, "but I'm only disappointed that I didn't do better."

He had four other passes thrown his way, two of which he felt he should have caught, one on the first North pass of the night and another on the next to last.

"I thought I should have had that one," he said.

If he had, it would have brought a particular glory to a stupified North team.

The pass came with 14 seconds left from substitute quarterback Jim Rayl. It was a long desperate toss across the middle in open field that bounced off Alvarado's fingertips.

"It was funny, it didn't seem as if it was that close," he said. "The south really dominated the offense. It was frustrating, having to stand on the sidelines and watch our defense play most of the game."

As it was, the North got Hurst in the worst way most of the night.

Grady Hurst of Santa Barbara, that is, a slippery slip-artist and master of the rollout. Hurst completed 14 of 23 passes for 176 yards and one touchdown and had an amazing touchdown run called back after eluding a sure trap.

It was either Hurst or a swift fleet of South runners who pestered an over-worked North defense all night.

The South gained 246 yards rushing, another 176 passing to outtotal the North 422-177. The first down mess stood at 21-6.

The entire spectacle, including a parade of Shriners and bands and a lacrosse exhibition at halftime, was watched by a total of 39,507 rabid fans, most of them partisan Rebs from the southland.

The win was the South's fifth in the last six meetings of the teams and gave them 9 of 15.

There were no valuable players named at this year's game.

Alvarado played on offense throughout the game, sometimes alterating with Wilson (S.F.) end Mike Baines at flanker. Koos, the highly-rated passing whiz, had nothing but bad luck all night. His passing was off and the running attack gained very little except for a brief spurt in the second period when the North culminated a 32-yard drive with a touchdown.

Raider Star Leaves Camp

SANTA ROSA (UPI) — Defensive star Ben Davidson of the Oakland Raiders has left training camp in a salary dispute.

Davidson, anchor of the Raiders' tough defensive line, missed drills yesterday and general manager Al Davis quoted Davidson as saying "I'm going to retire. The financial remuneration is not enough."

The mustachioed lineman had no comment, but Davis indicated he felt the problems could be solved.

Coach John Rauch said Davidson's walkout was "a problem between the management and him. I hope he works it out, but if he doesn't we'll just have to find a replacement for him and go on from there."

Oakland's defensive line has already been weakened by the ankle injury to tackle Tom Keating, who still has not been able to join workouts.

On the brighter side, Raider officials said the crowd could hit 50,000 for the Aug. 3 exhibition battle between Baltimore and the Raiders at the Coliseum.

Oakland yesterday cut its squad down to 63 by releasing James Ray Jackson, Mike Carroll and Tony O'Neil, all free agents.

Net Tourney Goes Into Final Round

Lowe's victory was an uphill struggle, 1-6, 6-3, 6-2 while Walter advanced in straight sets, 8-6, 8-6. Lowe and Walter were to meet for the championship today.

In Boys 12 singles Dan Tierney romped to a 6-0, 6-1 victory over Dave Walker while Greg Geisen blanked Doug Rosenberg 6-0, 6-0 to advance to today's finals.

In doubles action, Tierney teamed with Mike Gomez to defeat John Weaver and Mike Khourie 6-0, 6-1, and will meet Kushner and Walter today. The latter tandem edged Dave Murata and DeMartini in yesterday's other Boys 14 doubles semi-finals match, 6-3, 7-5.

Tiny Patricia Gomez advanced in two divisions yesterday, downing Caity Hurt 6-1, 6-4 in Girls 14 action and Diane DeMartini 6-1, 6-2 in the 12 age class.

Athletics To Open Six-Game Homestand

OAKLAND (UPI) — If the Oakland A's fine pitchers can stay as hot as they have been of late, the lack of hitting by the Bay Area club won't make any difference.

Oakland opens a six-game home stand against Minnesota tonight at 7:30 with Twins Jim Kaat (7-6) slated to take on Chuck Dobson (7-6) of Manager Bob Kennedy's crew.

The A's took the day off yesterday after a three-game sweep at Chicago that saw them surrender only two runs. That put the Oaklanders back in fifth place and one game shy of .500 in the won-lost department.

One new addition to the Coliseum scene tonight will be that of Barney A. Stuart, a 69-year-old retired engineer. He'll be stationed in center field with a railroad bell, which he will ring when the A's hit a homer, win a game, or get a rally going.

Mystery: Two Navy Goat Mascots Are Found Dead

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — The U.S. Naval Academy revealed today that the two goats which served as sports mascots, including one imported from Ireland, have been found dead under mysterious circumstances.

A spokesman for the Naval Academy Athletic Association said Bill XVI and King Puck, the Irish, beer-drinking goats, were found dead yesterday.

Autopsies on both animals were being performed by veterinarians at the University of Maryland.

The goats, symbol of the academy since 1904, are housed at a nearby dairy farm. Heavy security precautions are taken, including Marine Corps guards, during the football season, but no extra security is provided at this time of the year.

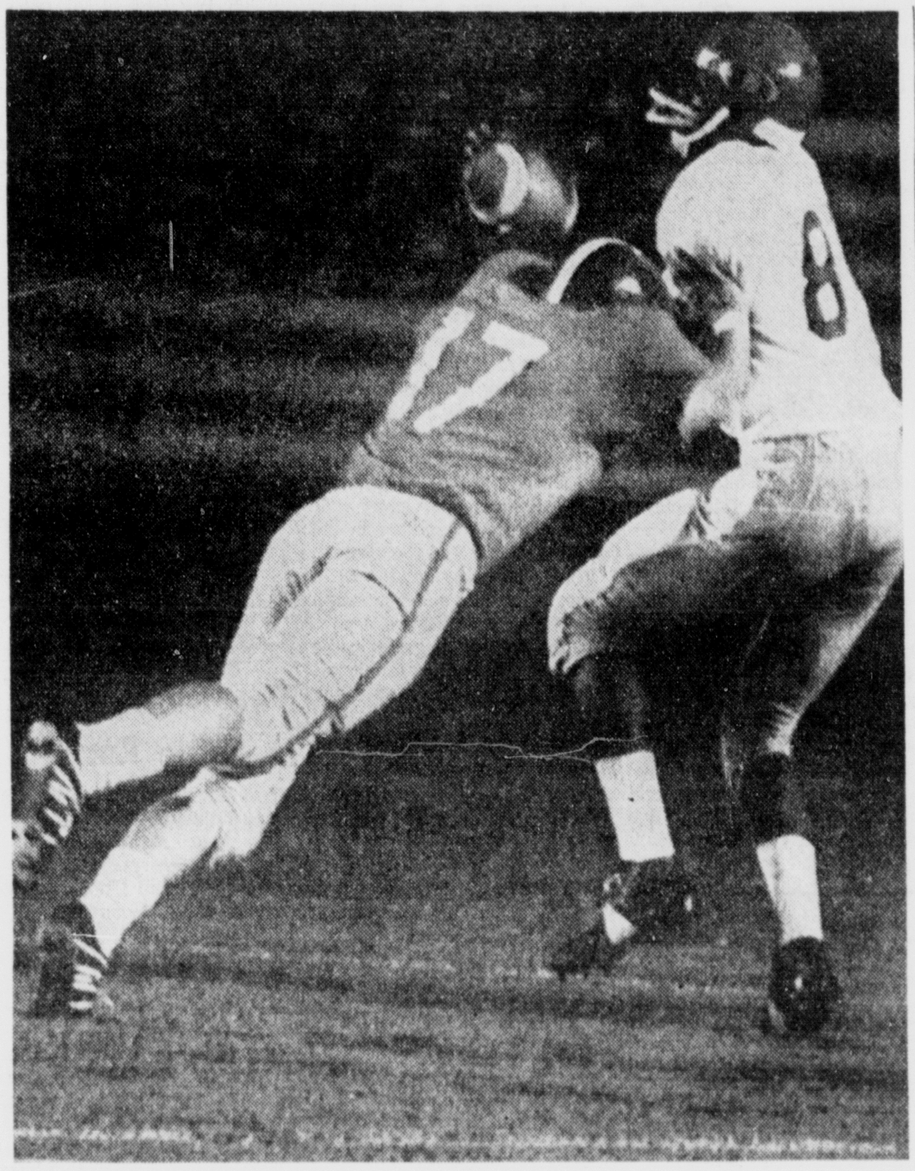
King Puck, who had a penchant for beer, was presented to the academy in an elaborate ceremony last year by the class of 1927, which was having its 40th reunion.

According to legend, a herd of wild goats near the town of Killor-Glin in Ireland once alerted the townspeople in time to flee a maurauding band from Cromwell's army. Each year, to commemorate this event, the residents of Killorglin crown a goat as king of their Puck Fair. Last year, the class of 1927 purchased the goat and presented King Puck to the academy.

Mrs. Brodie Wins At Las Gallinas

Mrs. Arthur Brodie fired low net score of 72-14—58 yesterday to win the Las Gallinas Women's Golf Club's "Giese Trophy" tournament.

Second and third places went to Mesdames Fred Laubscher (73-14—59) and Charles Wagner (78-18—60).



SOUTHERN SCORE — Henry Harrison of Compton's Domingues High makes a one-handed catch of pass for touchdown in second quarter of last night's 17th annnal North-South Shrine Football Game in Los Angeles. Pressure from Sacramento's Gary Dushane (17) caused Harrison to fumble the 21-yard aerial, but officials ruled he had possession long enough for the TD as South went on to win, 14-10. Five Unknowns Take Minnesota Golf Lead

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — While Lee's Fleas fretted over the putting woes of their new hero, U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino, five of pro golf's virtual unknowns swept into the opening-round lead yesterday in the $100,000 Minnesota Golf Classic.

Locked in the tie for first heading into today's second round were Pete Brown of Pomona, Calif., J.C. Snead of Hot Springs, Va., Jim Colbert of Overland, Park, Kan., Harry Toscano of New Castle, Pa., and Bob Stanton of Sydney, Australia.

All had five-under-par 66s over the 6,702 Keller golf course. First-place money is worth $20,000.

None of the leaders is ranked in the top 60 money winners this year on the PGA tour, and only Brown has ever won a PGA tournament—the WACO Turner at Ardmore, Okla., in 1964.

Trevino, who claimed he "didn't make one putt," soared to a three-over 74 to fall eight strokes behind the leaders. He needed a big recovery today to keep from being cut as the field was to be trimmed to the low 70 pros plus ties.

Trevino and Tom Weiskopf are the only golfers among the PGA's 14 leading money winners this year who showed up for the Classic.

Weiskopf still was very much in contention. He was tied for second with Dave Eichelberger and Monte Sanders with 67s—one stroke behind the leaders.

(Ron Cerrudo of San Rafael opened with a 71.)

Fifth of the field of 156 golfers bettered the venerable old Keller course's par of 71 and another 26 matched it—a pattern which has become normal in recent times.

However, Weiskopf and Trevino defended the course. "The fairways are in perfect shape and the greens held ral well," Weiskopf said. "The fairways are narrow which puts a premium on accuracy, and the traps are rough, which is the way it should be."

Brown, one of only a handful of Negroes on the pro tour, said he "hit the driver real good, and I putted the best I have in a long time," to fashion his 66.

Snead, nephew of old golf pro Sam Snead, also credited excellent putting for his first-round success. "My iron play stunk, but the putts were sure going in the hole," said Snead.

Colbert said he had "just been playing badly for five or six months" until he started to shake his slump a month or so ago.

Stanton, a 22-year-old who has been in the United States less than a year, said, "Right now, I'm playing the best golf I ever played in my life."

Toscano birdied four of the last seven holes he played to gain a tie for the lead.

276 Giant Boosters Remain Loyal

HOUSTON (UPI)—Who says the San Francisco Giants are dead?

Not 276 loyal fans who have journeyed here from the Bay Area to watch San Francisco battle Houston in the Astrodome.

The three-game set opens tonight with lefty Ray Sadecki (9-11) taking on Mike Cuellar (5-5). The last time Cuellar faced the Giants, his Houston mates gave Giant ace Juan Marichal his worst pounding of the season.

The Giants, who were idle yesterday, go into the contest with a .500 record at 49-49. That puts them only a half-game up on Chicago, but only a game behind third-place Cincinnati. Even second-place Atlanta is well within range.

Olympic Hopefuls Get Altitude 'Test'

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (UPI)—Hopefuls for the 1968 U.S. Olympic track and field team taste their first serious high-altitude competition tomorrow in an intra-squad meet at a Sierra ski resort.

Olympic track coach Payton Jordan of Stanford, his assistants and doctors will check the 70 athletes in 19 events nearly as closely as if they were America's astronauts. Running events will be shortened in order to slowly acclimate track performers to the 7,377 foot altitude, 28 feet higher than the Olympic Games track at Mexico City where the worldwide competition will be staged in October.

Athletes invited to the Olympic training camp began working out July 15 at the Echo Summit ski resort in the Eldorado National Forest. An all-weather track identical to the one at Mexico City was laid out.

"The athletes will experience the same sensations on the track here that they should experience in Mexico City," said Calvin Heuer who installed the track for the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co.

Among those entered in tomorrow's competition are Jay Silvester who has a pending world record in the discus, Art Walker, holder of the fourth best triple jump in history and American record holder Ron Whitney whose 400 meter intermediate hurdles mark of 49.5 is the year's best.

However, sidelined for the meet will be little Gerry Lindgren, America's premier distance runner from Washington State University. While recovering from a bruised Achilles tendon, he slightly sprained his right ankle yesterday.

The two sprints will be run at 75 and 150 meters instead of the usual 100 and 200 meters.

In addition to the field events, other races will be run at the following distances: 300 meters, 600 meters, 1,000 meters, 2,000 meters, 3,000 meters and 6,000 meters. Also included will be the 80-meter high hurdles and 300-meter intermediate hurdles.

Other intra-squad meets have been scheduled for Aug. 17 and Aug. 31. Final Olympic trials will be held Sept. 9 through Sept. 17.

'Other' Reasons Warriors Interest Sagged—Hannum

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Alex Hannum says Rick Barry is a superstar but he believes Barry's absence from the court last season isn't the only reason the San Francisco Warriors' attendance dropped.

Hannum is coach of the Oakland Oaks of the American Basketball Association, the club Rick Barry signed with last year — and for whom he has yet to play a game.

Hannum has seen Barry from Both benches. He coached the Warriors in Barry's rookie season on the National Basketball Association team in 1965-66, then saw the NBA All-Star as an opponent the next year when he coached the Philadelphia 76ers.

The Warriors are demanding that Barry play out his option clause with them—instead of sit it out, as he did the past season under a court order.

Testifying yesterday in Superior Court, Hannum said Barry would help him lift the Oaks from the ABA cellar to a flag contender in just one season when he signed recently as Oak coach.

He said Elgin Baylor, Jerry Lucas and John Havlicek are in the NBA's top flight along with Barry.

He asserted Barry was only one factor in the Warriors' loss of fans the past season. Others, he contended, were decreased publicity because of the San Francisco newspaper strike last winter and the Warriors' won-lost record.

In 1966-67, with Barry playing —and leading the league in scoring—the Warriors won the NBA's Western Division title with a 44-37 record. They also won the divisional playoffs before losing to Philadelphia in the finals.

The next year, without Barry, the Warriors had virtually the same mark, 43-38, but dipped to third in the final standings. They beat St. Louis but lost to Los Angeles in the divisional playoffs.

Barry testified yesterday that he believes his Warrior option clause applies only to switching to other NBA clubs, not to the new rival ABA.

Therefore, he said, he should be free to play with the Oaks the coming season. He has signed a $225,000 three-year contract with the Oaks.

TENNIS UPSETS

Rosie Casals, Stolle Win

OAKLAND (UPI)—San Francisco's Rosie Casals and Australia's Fred Stolle scored upset victories last night in the finals of the two-day National Tennis League pro tourney at the Oakland Arena.

A crowd of over 5,000 brought the two-day total to over 8,000 paid.

Miss Casals, 19, beat favored Billie Jean King, reigning Forest Hills and Wimbledon queen, 10-8, 2-6, 6-0. Mrs. King seemed annoyed by a few noisy fans during the last set but good-naturedly dragged Miss Casals fully-clothed into the shower after the match to celebrate her young friend's triumph.

Australia's Stolle surprised veteran Pancho Gonzales 7-5, 6-3 in the men's finals. Gonzales won the inaugural pro tourney last week in Los Angeles. Stolle got into the finals after losing one set to Roy Emerson Wednesday and then leading 3-2 in the second when Emerson had to forfeit because of an ankle injury.

49ers Shift Lance Olsen

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—The San Francisco 49ers used defensive tackle Lance Olssen of Purdue on offense yesterday in Walt Rock's position.

Rock has not reported and has told the 49ers he wants to be traded so he can be near his business in Washington, D. C.

Coach Dick Nolan said Olssen did well on offense, and also had praise for running back Dwight Lee of Michigan State.

Cooper Wins Oakland Bout

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—Former national AAU middleweight champion George Cooper stopped veteran Billy Marsh in the fourth round of a scheduled 10-rounder last night at the Oakland Auditorium.

Cooper, 156, Oakland, decked Marsh, 163 1-2, Las Vegas, in the third round and again in the fourth. When Marsh was staggered by a flurry of blows in the fourth without a return, the bout was halted with 38 seconds left.

Jackson, Not Monday, A's Top Future Star

Paul was from the University of Arizona; Cleveland had given him a $500 bonus to sign. Monday and Jackson came from Arizona State University; Rick grabbed off a bonus estimated at $100,000, while Reggie received upwards of $50,000 for signing.

"It figured," smiled a Cleveland writer, "that Paul would have trouble with them." In a way, so is the rest of the league.

Whatever becomes of Oakland in the standings this season, the A's story revolves around Monday and Jackson. Their third Arizona State athlete, personality kid Sal Bando, has faded from prominence after setting an amazing spring training home run pace.

Ironically, it's been the raw Jackson who has blasted more home runs than either Bando or Monday. And, despite the fact Reggie may be on the way to an all-time Athletics' strikeout record, he is having himself quite a season.

"No question he's the best potential player on this club," said a member of the team the other day. "When he learns about the game, when he gets some savvy and polish, he'll be in the superstar class."

IN PRE-SEASON FLACKERY, Monday was described as the club's reigning hero. And indeed Rick may win the American League batting championship (he well might be the only player in the entire league to hit .300 or over.)

But Monday doesn't have the speed, power and grace of Reggie Jackson. Or the inherent excitement. Before there was even a diamond constructed at the Coliseum, Monday talked in terms of hitting at least 20 homers. But through mid-week he had only four — and Jackson 17.

Reggie is always swinging for the fences, thus the strikeouts. "I just want to hit .500," he says. "And if it's in me, I want to be the team leader."

Well, he is in homers and strikeouts. His whiff figure is near the 100 mark, and Jackson seems certain to crack the team strikeout record of 146 set by a nondescript outfielder named Nelson Mathews when the A's played their baseball in Kansas City in 1964. The most times any Philadelphia Athletic had whiffed (dating back to the team's founding in 1901) was 110 times; Eddie Joost accomplished that in 1947.

YET, JACKSON DOES not always strike out. He has managed several key blows and thus kept himself in the starting lineup, despite our suggestion earlier in the season that Oakland farm the lad so he could gain experience.

"What would be the point?" asked one baseball man. "He can't learn anything in the minors. There is no Triple A in the minors anymore. In fact, a lot of what you see in the majors is like Triple A ball used to be."

Another young Oakland outfielder, Joe Rudi, supports this contention. Manager Bob Kennedy has been platooning the right-handed-hitting Rudi, but Joe keeps struggling to reach the .200 mark.

What he can't solve are the simplistics of the game — such as taking your position at the start of an inning. In Minnesota the other day, he was one pitch late getting out to right field. Unheard of, of course, but exhilarating.

THAT'S WHAT A mistake-prone savage swinger like Jackson is — exciting, sufficient in himself to lure paying customers. And for the A's this is vital, most particularly because Reggie is a Negro — and the Coliseum has not yet been a gathering place for the Black baseball fans. Their allegiance may be still too strongly tied to the likes of Mays and McCovey across the Bay.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Another Gibson Shutout

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

National League hitters have been waiting for almost two months—since May 28—for Gibson to lose, but the hard-firing St. Louis right-hander is having none of it. In fact, it's almost as difficult just to score a run against him as it is to beat him. The Philadelphia Phillies are the latest left watching and waiting as the veteran hurler cut them down 5-0 last night on five hits for his 11th consecutive victory and eighth shutout of the season.

Now with a 14-5 record, Gibson has yielded more than three runs only once in those 19 decisions, and in his last 92 innings he has allowed only two runs.

So the wait goes on against Gibson, but for Northrup and Torre, it has finally ended.

The slugging Northrup waited three weeks—since July 4—before breaking a home run slump last night and Torre drummed his fingers for five weeks—since June 20 — before he connected.

Northrup broke loose for two blasts, driving in three runs, and helped the Detroit Tigers to a 4-1 rain-shortened victory over the Washington Senators in the only American League contest.

Torre unloaded a three-run clout in Atlanta's 4-2 triumph over the New York Mets.

In the only other game in the National League, Cincinnati scored a 2-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates, who waited and waited for the clutch hit and never got it.

Gibson left little hope that the Phillies would be the ones to break him down. He struck out six, walked one and allowed only one runner as far as second base in posting his 12th complete game in a row.

Chris Short, 9-10, had the misfortune to be the opposing pitcher and the Cardinals touched him for two runs in the fourth inning on Johnny Edwards' single. Two more scored in the fifth on Orlando Cepeda's double and Mike Shannon's hit, and Gibson doubled in the final run in the eighth as the Cardinals swept the four-game series, extending Philadelphia's losing streak to seven games.

The victory, by the way, also kept St. Louis' National League lead at 12½ games over Atlanta.

Detroit, wrapped in a 6-9 slump since the All-Star break, raised its American League lead to 5½ games over idle Baltimore entering a three-game weekend series against the Orioles.

Northrup, who says hitting a home run "tends to make you overswing," brought the Tigers in with a two-run shot in the first inning and a leadoff belt in the third, giving him 15 for the season and 59 runs batted in.

The homers made it easy for Joe Sparma, 8-9, who walked six men but allowed only a single by Paul Casanova before rain ended the contest after 6½ innings.

Atlanta had its troubles against the Mets' Dick Selma, who was coasting behind a one-hitter in a scoreless duel against Phil Niekro until his defense let him down.

With two out in the sixth inning, Felipe Alou tripled and third baseman Ed Charles booted a ground ball to break the tie. Hank Aaron's infield hit followed and then Torre unloaded his eighth homer.

"I knew it would come. I knew I could hit one," said the burly catcher of Atlanta's first homer in 11 days.

Niekro raised his record to 10-7 with a six-hitter while Selma fell to 8-6.

George Culver, who pitched six innings to bring his record to 8-9, and Clay Carroll allowed Pittsburgh 13 hits, but stranded 13 runners in a frustrating evening for the Pirates.

U.S. Yacht Apparent Winner

TRAVEMUENDE, Germany (AP) — The American D-Class yacht Indigo, skippered by S.K. Welgman of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, was the apparent over-all winner today of the Bermuda-Travemuende trans-Atlantic yachting race.

The Indigo was the 19th of 33 entrants to reach home in the last two days. But, on the basis of time handicap it registered the best speed thus far.

Indigo's actual time for the 3,500-mile regatta was 20 days, 23 hours, two minutes and 45 seconds. Her handicap brought the time down to 16 days, 12 hours, 14 minutes and 36 seconds.

The Indigo placed the United States in position to take the two top awards of the centennial race of the North German Regatta Club of Hamburg.

The Ondine III, skippered by S.A. "Huey" Long of New York, was the first ship home yesterday and thereby won the West German Federal Chancellor Cup.

Crucial Softball Battle Tonight For Sohner Team

Sohner Tree Service softballers of San Anselmo, one of four unbeaten clubs in the double-elimination Tri-County District Tournament, tangle with the Coast Merchants of Sonoma County in a crucial winners' bracket tilt tonight, 8:15 o'clock, at Santa Rosa Howarth Park.

Only six of the original 13 teams from Marin, Sonoma and Mendocino counties are still in the running for the championship and the coveted bid to the State Softball Tournament which goes to the winner.

Catchable Trout Planted In Central Coast Region

STEVENS

Memo to "fish-close-to-home" anglers: The waters of the central coastal region have been restocked with catchable size trout this week. They are, by counties: Mendocino—East Branch of Russian River; Lake—Upper Blue Lake; Marin—Lagunitas Reservoir; San Francisco—Lake Merced; San Mateo—Pescadero Creek; Santa Cru—Loch Lomond Reservoir, Corralitos Creek and the San Lorenzo River; Monterey — Big Sur River; San Luis Obispo — Lower Nacimiento River.

The importance of Saturday as pertaining to hunting seasons is easy to remember instead of stating the actual opening and closing dates. But if you fix Saturday into your calculations, you'll seldom have to look up the dates. Here are some important Saturdays: Deer — early opening of season, first Saturday in August; late season, Saturday closest to Sept. 23; pheasant — Saturday before Thanksgiving; quail and chukar — last Saturday in October; dove — Northern California, Sept. 1, Southern California, first Saturday in September except if the first falls on the Sunday immediately prior to Labor Day; rabbit — early season, first Saturday in July, late season, Sept. 1; tree squirrels — early season, first Saturday in August, late season, Saturday closest to Sept. 23.

TWO HUNDRED AND SIXTY nimrods will have to go for antelope again this year. The state has approved a special, controlled hunt for 260 antelopes to be held Aug. 24-Sept. 2 in Modoc County and portions of Siskiyou, and Lassen counties. Permits will be issued on the basis of a public drawing to be held Thursday, Aug. 8. Applications will be available soon from Department of Fish and Game headquarters, 1416 9th Street, Sacramento as well as from license agents. Deadline for submitting applications is 5 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 6.

The take last year featured buck antelopes only. It will likely be the same this year. Better play safe, though, and contact the F&G for more detailed information.

Ferrara Wins Divorce Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Injured Los Angeles Dodger outfielder Al "The Bull" Ferrara has won an uncontested divorce from his estranged wife, Angela Marie, whom he contends threatened his life.

Ferrara told Superior Court Judge Robert A. Wenke his 27-year-old wife would call him from her home in Brooklyn and "say to me on the telephone that the next time I played in New York, she would see to it that I was shot."

Ferrara said it made him nervous when playing in New York's Shea Stadium.

Mrs. Ferrara will receive $11,000 and $300 a month for support of the couple's 6-year-old son, according to a financial settlement she reached with Ferrera's attorney's before the divorce was granted.

Rec Softball Has Variety

One tie, one cliffhanger and one "laughter" highlighted last night's action in the San Rafael Softball League's B-I Division at Albert Field.

The stalemate was a 1-1 struggle between the Two Turtles and Paul Koss Supply, called after seven innings by the 90 minute time limit. Rich Hull of the Koss team was star of the evening as he pitched a one-hitter, giving up only one walk and an unearned run, while striking out 13 batters, including 9 in a row at one point.

Rich Katzenmoyer and Bill Riggs led the Potentials to a cliff-hanging 3-2 victory over Brandon Tires in the evening's second game. While Riggs was pitching a three-hitter and striking out 14, Katzenmoyer came to the rescue with a seventh inning two-run homer for the winning margin.

Gatsby's had it easy in the nightcap, a 9-1 romp over the Presidio as Jerry Hartman pitched a two-hitter and Grant White hit a home run. Gatsby's and the Potentials are tied for first place in team standings.

LaRue Shoots High Above Pin Average

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Jim LaRue went 171 pins over his three-game average when he rolled a 663 series in the Toppers League at Country Club Bowl.

LaRue, sporting a 164 average, had games of 244, 218 and 201 for top honors at the San Rafael lanes.

Dick White had best score in the four-game category, an 862 on games of 234, 212, 211 and 205 in the 550 Scratch. Elmer Tynes followed with a 255-848; Ron Baccei had a 258 and Joe Filippo a 252 in other big scors.

Lolly Laver of the Southshore League won the gold star in women's bowling at Country Club, a 590 series headed by a 209 line. Viv Gray followed with a 556 in the Ladies Scratch.

Dan Baker went 139 pins over his normal series score with a 562 in the Nite Owls. Bob Sievers was 76 pins better than his average with a 235 in the Toppers and Pete Bekey and Len Hatford each went 71 over, Pete rolling a 223 in the Weekenders and Len a 218 in the Elks Mixed. Marcy Brown was 77 pins better than her 139 avg. with a 216 in the Morning Glories.

Skip Ruhl was headliner in junior division bowling, the 125 average kegler blasting a 233 game and 575 series. Kathie Spear led the young gals with 181-522.

Better late than never, secretary Bert Tynes tells us Emma Smith, 127 average, rolled a 243 game back on July 12 in the South Shore League. Of more recent vintage in that league, John Joseph went up the ladder by the tens, 170-180-190; Eve Balzarini came near a triplicate, 128-123-123, and Bert and Johnnies's Auto Wrecking team show what consistent means, rolling 644-642-640.

In the Bowlerettes League, Edna Meloni (142 avg.) missed hitting her average three times by opening her series with a 128 line. Olga Taylor was just about the happiest gal in the Girls A Go-Go League when she converted the 6-7 split.

New Pisa Romps To Cage Victory

Terry Bradley with 26 points and Joe Smith with 24 led New Pisa (Polytechnic) to a 92-49 romp over San Rafael's Bulldogs last night in the Drake Summer Recreation Basketball League's High School Division at Drake High.

In other games John Swett, led by Art Cooper's 19 points, nipped Marin Catholic 51-50, with Bill Murray scoring 17 for the losers, and McGillicuddy Construction (Novato) downed the Tamalpais Indians 61-42 behind Ed Hernberger's 18 points.

Drysdale Denies San Diego Story

Chevron Chemical Finishes Expansion

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Chevron Chemical Co. has completed a multimillion dollar expansion of its captan and phaltan manufacturing facilities of its subsidiary company, Chevron Chemical Co., SAF at Port-de-Bouc, France.

The recent expansion provides a 50 per cent increase in production of the fungicides which are in such great demand by European fruit and vegetable growers.

Oil Strong But Market Still Mixed

NEW YORK (AP)—Oils were strong as the stock market closed mixed today in fairly active trading.

The market was irregular throughout the session and, except for the oils and a selection of blue chips, made little concerted progress.

Volume for the first four hours was 8.38 million shares compared with 11.98 million for the like period Thursday.

Gains and losses were about equal.

Phillips Petroleum, up 4, paced the list on activity. The stock responded to news that Phillips would begin drilling two wells this winter in the same area in Alaska where a rich find recently spurred the stock of Atlantic Richfield.

Standard Oil (New Jersey) was active and up 2 in response to its hiked dividend. Mobil Oil gained 3. Standard of Indiana more than a point, Texaco nearly a point.

Other blue chips were spurred by the investment interest in oils. Schering climbed nearly 3, Lorillard 2, Du Pont and Eastman Kodak a point or more.

Gains of a point or so were made by U.S. Industries, Alcoa, and Sunasco.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Turn In Speculatives To Acquire Sounder Issues

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have held these stocks for five years: Alan Wood Steel, Fairchild Hiller, Fed. Pacific Elec., Hilton Hotels, Kalvex, McDonnell Douglas and Nuclear Corp. of America. Could you switch me into less speculative stocks? — J. H.

A. Although all your holdings have done well for you, some switches would probably help to allay your fears.

Alan Wood and McDonnell are turnaround situations and should be held. Hilton and Federal Pacific have been displaying strong market action and should be retained for the present. On the other hand, I would accept the excellent gains in Fairchild Hiller, Kalvex and Nuclear Corp.

Resulting cash funds should be reinvested in high-quality growth issues such as Marine Midland Banks and Beatrice Foods. Marine Midland — a holding company serving New York state — has recently proposed the acquisition of a Long Island bank. Beatrice Foods' strong earnings uptrend continues with another boost in quarterly earnings reported for the first fiscal period ended May 30.

Q. Should a turnaround situation be bought before it's known to the public? I'm considering Data Control which earned 5 cents a share in the first half of fiscal 1968 after two deficit years. — M. F.

A. Being ahead of the pack is important in making any investment and is certainly true in a turnaround situation.

Data Control has been almost totally dependent on government contracts. Earnings suffered a reversal in 1964 after the company completed its segment of the manned-rocket-to-the-moon program. Future prospects are tied to its success in developing wider commercial markets for which the most promising products are high-speed digital data terminals and modems which enable computers to communicate with one another. This speculative turnaround on the hope of earnings recovery is for risk capital only.

GLASBELT TIRES

The new Riverside® GLASBELT TIRE

2 fiber glass belts stabilize the tread with a tensile strength greater than steel
So stable, the tread won't squirm like it does on ordinary tires. So it wears longer. Up to 40% longer than the same tire without these belts. All that strength holds the tread open. Lays it down flatter. Socks it to the road.

2 plies of nylon cord for high speed dependability
